Rogers Discusses Injun Compatriot's Farm Relief Ideas

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 20.—Shows you what ends we will go to for amusement in this country nowadays. They are even having notification meetings to tell the vice presidential candidates they have been nominated. In the old days that came in the nature of a warning.

I liked my Injun compatriot Curtis' stand on farm relief. He said: "Appoint a congressional committee to study the problem and when they found out about it pass legislation in accordance."

Now who could have thought of a better way to sidetrack anything than to wait till some congressmen and senators found out anything about it. They don't know anything about it in the first place, is why they are senators and congressmen.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc journeyed down to the festival at the St. Vitus church on Saturday evening. There were thousands there and travelling about was just the next thing to the impossible. That evening ended a celebration that has been going on for a week with the usual fervor and hubbub every evening.

R. X. Graham, the Horace Greeley up at Westminster College, dropped in to see Pa Newc Saturday. Graham is instructor in journalism and writes all of the stories about the little college town. R. X. is but one of the many Westminsterite sages who are returning to the little village. Pa Newc has noticed that the most of the faculty are drifting in and getting rested from tours in Europe, summer school and what not for the next term which starts September 19.

Several more robberies have been in evidence out in the district of Mt. Jackson. This makes fourteen in the last three weeks. Residents feel that the night prowlers should give them a rest and pick on some other district for a week or so.

Souvenirs were soon exhausted at the new banks on their opening Saturday. Pa Newc went in to get one at noon and everything was given out. The great interest in the opening of these two beautiful banks was not even anticipated by the banking companies. It was a gala day.

Office furniture is being moved into the new administration building of the city schools now. The new building is a decided improvement over the old, dark offices in the North street building. Dr. C. C. Green has forsaken his role as superintendent of schools during the moving time and is now foreman of the moving and placing of the furniture.

It will be but a matter of a few days until we will all be back on the same time again. Daylight savings time is all right for those who like it but it does cause a lot of confusion. The system of using it while school was not in session this year was a good one, thinks Pa Newc.

To escape the monotone of the city, Pa motored out to picturesque McConnell's Mills on the Slippery Rock creek, Sunday afternoon. There he was confronted by another roving city, constantly moving about enjoying the scenery, water, or what might you suggest? They came even as far as from Colorado, but the majority of the cars carried Ohio, Virginia and Pennsylvania tags. Hundreds were there from parts within the Keystone state. McConnell's Mills has created a name for itself and is noted for its grandeur and beauty. The sight one sees is unforgetable! Residents of this and nearby counties—those who wish they were enjoying the outdoors in the Yellowstone or grand canyon—have missed something if they haven't seen McConnell's Mills.

And while speaking of McConnell's Mills, Pa would like to add a word of commendation for the work of "Mose," in directing the heavy vehicular traffic there Sunday. And say, don't think there wasn't any! At one

Rockford Citizens Alarmed Over Possible Plight Of Men Who Carried City's Name

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA, Aug. 20.—Radiograms were flashed to ships at sea early today to keep a lookout for Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, the two American aviators who became lost while attempting a flight from Canada to Greenland.

While the route taken by the airmen was far north of the regulation steamer lane, small ships ply the waters where the men may have come down.

Favorable weather conditions were reported off the coast.

Belief is maintained here that the plane was forced to land by mechanical trouble, but there is no explanation of its silence. The last signal from it was received at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

MOUNT EVANS, Greenland, Aug. 20.—Vigil was maintained here thruout the night for Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, American aviators who hopped off at Rockford, Ill., to fly to Stockholm, Sweden.

Legion Gathering At Uniontown For Great Convention

Uniontown Gaily Bedecked With Flags Awaiting Start Of Legion Sessions

LOS ANGELES TO HAVE PROGRAM PART

Thursday Will See Start Of Convention; Notables Will Attend

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 20.—The big parade has started.

Uniontown, gaily bedecked in flags and bunting today awaited the vanguard of the army of 100,000 men, women and children who are expected to participate in some manner in the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, Aug. 23, 24 and 25.

While airplanes drone overhead, the huge silvery dirigible Los Angeles is expected to nose its way through the skies to lend color to the festivities, while Pennsylvania's own veterans parade and make merry, hold friendly fights over new department officers, convention cities, and transact Legion business in general.

Reservations for accommodations poured into Uniontown in an avalanche today. While members of the local committees announced they could handle any volume of guests, it was expected that housing facilities will be taxed to their limit.

Every business place and resident in Uniontown is expected to fly the Star Spangled Banner as the Legionnaires assemble. The city, and surrounding communities will play host — prepared for the frolics, parades and merry-making which characterizes the Legion's annual outing and business sessions.

Notables To Attend

Distinguished visitors who have signified their intention to be present at this American Legion gala event, are Major John A. Lejeune, commander of the U. S. Marine Corps; Major A. P. Simmons of New York, representing the National Security League; Brigadier General Edward Martin of Washington, Pa., state auditor and personal representative of Governor John S. Fisher; Captain John Dryton Wainwright, assistant commandant of the Fourth Naval District; Congressman Samuel Kendall of Myersdale, and Commandant E.

Westfield Church Celebrating 125th Birthday This Week

Westfield Presbyterian church, near Mt. Jackson, was filled to capacity Sunday morning by members of the congregation and former members and friends for the initial service which marked the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the founding of the church which will be celebrated with appropriate exercises by the congregation this week.

The service was known as the anniversary worship service and was in charge of Dr. S. A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington, pastor-at-large of the Beaver and Shenango presbyteries. Dr. Kirkbride gave a most interesting discourse on the historical background of the church. He spoke of the Christian Indians who were then located at Moravia and were known as the Moravian Indians. In 1780-90 the white settlers came and the Indians moved to Ohio.

Divine Guidance.

Dr. Kirkbride emphasized how the hand of God guided the affairs of men and directed the white settlers to organize a place of worship at this place.

Youngstown Man Nabbed Here By Local Officers

Charged With Serious Cutting, Frank Vaccaro Is Arrested Saturday Evening

RETURNS TO OHIO WITHOUT EXTRADITION

Wanted in Youngstown for seriously wounding Joe Marino on August 9, Frank Vaccaro, who since the alleged cutting had been staying in a Croton avenue home with friends, was on Saturday night arrested in the Croton district by Detectives C. G. Logan and John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch.

His arrest was effected on a warrant issued at Youngstown. Following his arrest the Youngstown police authorities were notified and on Sunday Detective Thomas Bowser of the Youngstown police force came to this city and secured Vaccaro, who agreed to go back to Ohio without the necessity of obtaining extradition papers.

Marino, the victim of Vaccaro's alleged activities, is in a very serious condition in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown.

Leonard Salerno Gives Himself Up To Authorities

Charged With Murder Of Joe Tranquillo On March 25, 1928, On East Home Street

WILL GO TO TRIAL IN SEPTEMBER

Leonard Salerno, charged with the murder of Joe Tranquillo on East Home street on March 25, 1928, gave himself up to County Detective William G. Fleming at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The shooting is alleged to have occurred over a matter of financial affairs in a lodge. In the argument it is said Salerno pulled a gun, shot Tranquillo and then fled from the city. Since that time he has been in hiding.

He was taken to the county jail by Mr. Fleming where a formal charge of murder was preferred against him. He will be tried in the September term of criminal court.

Fifteen Robberies Reported In Three Weeks; Residents Of District Aroused

TO ASK PERMITS TO CARRY GUNS

Masked Bandits Apparently Know Section And Average Nearly One Per Night

For the 15th time in three weeks, the masked bandits who have been terrorizing the Mt. Jackson district, broke into a home there, when on Saturday night the home of A. E. Fraser, who resides on the farm of R. H. Wilson near Hickory Creek, was entered and $42 stolen. Entrance was gained through the pantry window. No clues were left.

Residents of the district are aroused over the continued depredations, almost every night seeing somebody's home looted. Permits to carry guns are being talked of and householders are preparing to defend their homes at any cost.

No Trace of Them.

Despite the fact that the burglars have been skulking through fields, they have not been apprehended. Efforts have been made for their capture, but to no avail, and the plundering of the homes of the district goes on unmolested.

The thieves seem to have a penchant for foodstuffs and money as watches and other jewelry which have been in the homes entered by the bandits have not been molested.

The home of Howard Butler of Mt. Jackson, which was among the number entered, had the ice box pilfered

Topeka, Kansas, On Dress Parade As "Our Charlie" Accepts Republican Nomination

INDIANS EXULTANT OVER HIS CHOICE

Senator Simeon D. Fess Formally Notifies Curtis Of Vice Presidential Choice

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 20.—Stressing ing particularly the problem of agriculture, and referring to the two bills designed to aid the farmer, Senator Charles Curtis, Republican nominee for the office of vice president of the United States, formally accepted the nomination of his party here Saturday, only two miles from the thatched cabin in which he was born 68 years ago.

The ceremony took place on the steps of the state capitol building before a crowd estimated at 50,000.

More Than Ceremony.

More than a political ceremony were the exercises at the state capitol. They took on the aspect of a mid-west "Old Home Week", for all classes of people crowded the city, and talk ran high about "Our Charlie Curtis". Wherever he went he was surrounded by vast crowds, wearing sunflower decorations with "Our Charlie" emblazoned on them. He was greeted by bands and choruses and, to give the ceremonies a climax, a band of Indians from a nearby reservation whooped it up on the capitol steps shortly before the senator arrived, and greeted him with war cries and dances. This was the honor they felt was due to the native son of Kansas, for his grandmother was an Indian.

Simeon D. Fess of Ohio delivered the notification address. Senator Curtis' acceptance speech was a 30-minute effort, and besides stressing agriculture he dealt in considerable length with the many questions of the campaign, emphasizing the fact that he opposed the repeal of the 18th amendment, or the Volstead act.

Opposes Repeal.

"Not only am I heartily in favor of enforcing faithfully all of our laws," he declared, "but further, I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th amendment, or the Volstead act."

Other high points in his address were the encouragement of the active participation of women in [illegible]itics

Senator Curtis On Way East To Start Campaign

Senator Charles Curtis Officially Launches Campaign; Notified Saturday

Oklahoma Indians Send Congratulatory Message To Curtis

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 20.—Senator Charlie Curtis was on his way to Washington today to open his campaign in the east. The Republican vice-presidential nominee who officially launched his campaign here Saturday with his acceptance speech left for the capital yesterday.

Senator Curtis will make his first eastern address in Providence, R. I. on Thursday. After this speech the senator is expected to talk before New York, Connecticut, Maine and Kentucky audiences, but these appointments are all tentative and will be discussed by the national committee when Senator Curtis arrives Tuesday.

The senator, who was born in North Topeka 68 years ago, and who has been a resident here since, has asked the national committee to allow him to close his campaign where he opened it—in his own home state. He expects to spend the latter part of his campaign tour in the middle west, ending it at some part of Kansas and coming to Topeka to vote.

Among the congratulatory telegrams which the senator received following his acceptance speech was one from 3,000 Oklahoma Indians.

Smith To Answer Critics Before His Acceptance

Expected To Lash Out At William Allen White And Others Who Have Flayed Him

THIS STATEMENT TO BE LAST ONE

Will Not Allow Criticism Of Legislative Record To Enter As Issue In Election

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 20.—On the eve of the ceremony at which he will be formally notified of the Democratic presidential nomination, Governor Al Smith today was expected to issue a statement denouncing his critics for picturing him as a foe of good government.

The statement, according to the governor's confidants, will be a direct answer to William Allen White, Kansas editor, who charged that the nominee, when a member of the state legislature 20 years ago, always voted to protect the saloon, gambling and vice. While the statement may not mention Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, New York, by name, friends of the governor predict that indirectly it would be a complete answer to the charge by the clergyman that the nominee is "the deadliest foe in America today to moral progress."

To Be Bitter Statement.

While the governor has issued many sharp statements in the last eight years in disputes with Republican leaders of the state legislature, his close friends expect the forthcoming statement will be one of the most bitter that the executive ever has penned. They predict that once and for all, Smith will attempt to bury the charge that his legislative record as it relates to moral issues, is not what it should be.

By waiting until a day or so before he formally accepts the presidential nomination, to reply to White's charges, the governor is said to feel that his defense of his legislative rec-

Reeves Suggests Law To Curtail Low Air Flights

"I believe the city of New Castle should have an ordinance prohibiting the flight of airplanes below a certain altitude," said Councilman Reeves when council met in city hall today.

Councilmanic colleagues gasped.

"What would we do should an airplane violate the ordinance?" asked councilman Burns, adding:

"If he went too fast we couldn't do anything except to send out 'pursuit planes.'"

It was suggested to council that someone cover the airplane with a long distance camera and the number could be caught.

Councilmen settled down to a more sober frame of mind and said that aviation should be encouraged.

There are cities which have laws pertaining to heighth to which airplanes can descend.

There have been several deaths in larger cities resulting from airplanes crashing on the roofs of high buildings.

Goebel Breaks Cross-Country Flight Record

Art Goebel, Dole Hawaiian Flight Winner, Sets Record For Cross-Country Flight

FLIES FROM COAST TO NEW YORK CITY

Official Time For Flight Is 18 Hours, 58 Minutes; Experiences No Trouble

(International News Service)

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Art Goebel, winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii, arrived here this morning, establishing a new record for a non-stop flight across the continent.

Goebel left Los Angeles at 12:06 p. m. yesterday (Pacific standard time), and arrived here at 11:08 a. m. eastern daylight time, making the long journey in 18 hours and 55 minutes.

Goebel was accompanied by Harry Tucker, Santa Monica sportsman, in the plane "Yankee Doodle", a Lockheed Vega with a Pratt Whitney motor capable of 175 miles an hour.

The previous record of 26 hours and 50 minutes was held by Lieuts. Macready and Kelly.

Reports of the plane since its departure from Los Angeles had been few, but no anxiety was felt for Goebel and Tucker by aviation experts, who expressed absolute confidence in the Hawaiian flight winner's ability to succeed.

Horner Wins Case Against Collector Of Township Taxes

Holds That Old Custom In Vogue In This County Is Not The Law

In the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, use of Former County Treasurer C. Lee Horner against John M. Houk tax collector of Shenago township and R. F. Houk and Conrad Houk, sureties, Judge Hildebrand handed down an opinion this morning in which judgment is directed to be entered in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for the amount of the claim, $178.56.

As tax collector Mr. Houk had followed an old custom in operation in this county for many years of charging a commission on the collection of taxes placed in his hands. Former County Treasurer Horner was surcharged with this commisison by the county auditors and he in turn went after the collectors. In a lengthy opinion Judge Hildebrand goes into the acts of April, 1851, March, 1852 and May, 1854 arriving at the conclusion that the tax collector is not eititled to the commission charged.

For all they say and all they spiel, the radio will shout and if we tire of any part, we simply tune them out. This is the time when politics and parties have their say, and radios are busy now, its eighty-six today.

Jackson Center Boy Is Killed By Automobile

Three-Year-Old Daniel Jones Killed When Car Of Colin Conroy Hits Him

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 20. — Daniel, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jones of Jackson Center, near here, was killed last night, near his home, when struck by the automobile of Colin Conroy, 1119 McNeeley, street, Dormont, Pa. The child ran in front of the car and the driver being unable to avoid hitting him, he was knocked to the ground. Mr. Conroy rushed the child to the Mercer hospital, where he died thirty minutes after being taken there. Coroner William McGrath was in this place today arranging for a jury to sit at the inquest to be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the county court house. Conroy will be brought back for the inquest.

Solons To Discuss Proposed Sweeper

Councilmen will gather some time today and informally talk over the proposal of Councilman Reeves, department of streets, relative to the city purchasing an Elgin sweeper.

He said today the city can lease the machine for this year for $1,500, the payment to apply on the purchase price next year.

Councilmanic colleagues believe that this would virtually be buying the machine on "the installment plan."

When bids were opened several kinds were offered to the city.

The department has an appropriation of $6,500 for a sweeper but it has not been bought.

Reeves colleagues do not believe that $1,500 worth can be secured during the next two months from the sweeper.

An ordinance, passed some time ago, ordering automobiles from streets, is being enforced.

The bill was put through because the councilmen said parked cars would prevent cleaning of streets at night.

The cars are being hauled in but the streets are not being cleaned by the sweeper because the city hasn't yet bought one.

Painters are improving the exterior appearance of the city building, preparatory to the Third Class Cities League convention here next month. Woodwork about windows have been painted white and other woodwork will be given a coat of paint.

the reduction of the public debt, the reduction of public expenses and of taxes, the maintenance of peace, the avoidance of entangling alliances with foreign powers, a thorough going protective tariff and an adequate system of flood control for the Mississippi valley.

Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, received a glowing tribute from Senator Curtis. "He is a credit to the party, to the nation, both in the eyes of our people and of the world," he said. He also expressed admiration for the policies of President Coolidge, which he said were the same as those of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt, as well as of Mr Hoover himself. His peroration consisted of an appeal to the Republican party to present an united and impenetrable front during the campaign.

"The prohibition amendment ultimately was adopted by all of the states with the exception of Rhode Island and Connecticut—not merely by the required three-fourths of the states, but by all except two," Senator Curtis declared. "Through this voluntary action, which binds all, the states delegated to the federal government their full responsibility on the liquor prohibition question. The federal government accepted the power and responsibility so delegated, thereby binding itself and, accordingly, congress passed the Volstead act.

Indefensible Attempt.

"For the federal government now to adopt, or even to propose to favor, a policy which will result in allowing each state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold, and transported throughout the country would be a direct and indefensible attempt on its part to evade or to repudiate the responsibility so delegated, and an endeavor to redelegate that responsibility to the several states from whence it came would be without justification for the action.

"I believe in meeting an issue squarely, and therefore I state that not only am I heartily in favor of faithfully enforcing all our laws, but further, I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th amendment, or of the Volstead act."

Other points in Senator Curtis' address included the statement that the Kellogg treaty gave the United States the moral leadership of the world and that the United States would stay out of the league of nations.

Millions of people, who could not be at Topeka, heard the address of notification and the subsequent reply over radio networks. The microphones on the capitol steps carried the nominee's voice all over the United States and to most of Europe.

One of the picturesque and unscheduled incidents of the day was contributed by two little negro boys who, in order to have a good view of the proceedings, climbed up on a statue of Abraham Lincoln, a few rods away from the speakers' platform. There, with their arms twined about the emancipator's neck, the boys watched the activities in entire unselfconsciousness.

The Summary of the Speech.

"I accept the nomination of the Republican party for the vice presidency of the United. . . . The time, place and manner of the notification are particularly fitting. . . . .

"The United States is enjoying an era of national prosperity never before equalled by any nation on the globe. . . . This has been accomplished by the application of Republican principles to the task of government. . . . The encouragement of agriculture has always been a Republican doctrine. . . . Without the help of the Republican party, the agricultural situation would be worse than it is. . . . It is believed that the time is not far off when there will be a complete and honest understanding between labor and capital . . . At all times be openly in favor of allowing women to vote. . . . The 19th amendment will result in aligning women with the Republican party. . . . Prompt reduction of the public debt. . . . Herbert C. Hoover is well worthy of the party's choice.

As the route taken by the Americans was off the North Atlantic steamer lane, considerable anxiety was felt for them.

Throughout the night wireless calls were sent out without eliciting any reply.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 20—Daugaard Jensen, general director of the Danish state department for Greenland, declared today there is no reason yet to abandon hope for Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, missing American airmen who hopped off at Cochrane, Ont., to fly to Mount Evans, Greenland.

This official pointed out the possibility that Hassell may be unable to communicate with civilization from Greenland even if alive and well.

"Hassell's supposed landing place is 25 miles from the nearest radio station which Professor Hobbs, an American operates on a short wave length," said Jensen. "From the Hobbs station it is an additional 400 miles to the government station at Julianehaab. It is possible that Hassell may not be heard from until he arrives at Ireyk-Javik with his companion flyer".

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Aviators Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer who were attempting a trans-Atlantic flight from Canada to Greenland in the plane Greater Rockford, had not arrived early today, said an exchange telegraph dispatch from Julianehaab. They were due at Mount Evans Sunday afternoon.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 20.—Gloom spread over Rockford today as hope waned for the missing Sweden-bound flyers, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, who are almost a day overdue at Mount Evans, Greenland.

"No sign of Hassell yet. Long overdue."

That was the discouraging report, radioed from Mount Evans, in the hands of the chamber of commerce today. It was signed "ETES," for Elmer Etes, mechanic, who had gone on ahead to greet the plane in Greenland.

Many Rockford citizens remained up all night to await word of the missing plane. The hope prevails that the flyers are safe, having lost communication with the outside world through the failiure of their broadcasting set.

Parker Cramer, co-pilot of the Greater Rockford, while not a native Pennsylvanian, is generally hailed as the Keystone state's second participant in long distance hops. Wilmer Stultz, of Williamsburg, Pa., was the first.

Cramer conducted a private airfield at Clarion, where his mother, Mrs. Fanny Cramer, makes her home.

"Shorty," as the intrepid airman is familiarly known, was born in Lafayette, Ind., 32 years ago. He entered the field or aviation in 1915, and during the war served as a government instructor at aviation training camps in Illinois and the south.

Like the famous "Lindy," Cramer barnstormed the country making passenger flights, and for a time was in the employe of the City of New York.

the nation has been spanned from west to east in a non-stop jump, and broke a speed record which had stood for more than five years.

The plane carried 450 gallons of gasoline. The route lay across Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Frank Titchenor, publisher of the Aero Digest, who acted as official timer and was first to greet the flyers when they stepped from the plane, announced the official time as 18 hours and 58 minutes. He gave the official time of arrival as 11:08 a. m., but said he had accepted Tucker's statement that the wheels of the plane had not left the ground at Los Angeles until 12:10 p. m., Pacific time, although reports from Los Angeles gave the time of the take-off as 12:06 p. m.

Will Enter Derby

Painted on the white plane were its name, "Yankee Doodle", a red, white and blue arrow running the length of the fuselage, the names of Goebel and Tucker and the plane's race number, 44, in the trans-continental air derby scheduled to start from Roosevelt field on September 12.

Goebel said the record flight from Los Angeles was made as a preparation for the forthcoming derby, on which he will be accompanied by Tucker. He was reluctant to name some of the places the plane passed over on the way here, stating that he had discovered a route which he expected to aid him in the race, and which he did not wish to outline for his competitors. He did say, however, that he flew over Albuquerque, N. M., Wichita, Kas., St. Louis, Mo., and Columbus, O. Goebel declared that St. Louis was passed at midnight and Columbus at dawn.

Were Without Food

Goebel and Tucker both said that although they had provisions on board, they had not eaten since leaving Los Angeles, and their first concern after landing was to go to a local hotel for luncheon. From there they were to go to the Ambassador Hotel in Manhattan, where they will stay while preparing for the cross-country derby.

The flight, according to Goebel, was made at fairly high altitudes, crossing mountains at about 10,000 feet and remaining at seven or eight thousand feet over level country. The pilot estimated his average speed at 150 miles an hour and said he thought about 90 gallons of fuel remained in the 450-gallon tank, which was filled at the start.

YEGGS CONTINUE HOUSEBREAKING AT MT. JACKSON

and numerous other places have had similar cases where comestibles were taken by the robbers. At the home of Miss Jean Clark on the Enon road, no attempt was made to take anything but canned fruit which was stored in the cellar.

The wave of pilfering seemed to start with deviltry when a mail box was stolen and a new home damaged in Sunnyside on the Mt. Jackson hill. Since that time there have been robberies every night.

One Stick-Up.

Only one case of highway robbery has been reported. On the Mt. Jackson hill at Sunnyside, Robert Sherer was accosted when two masked men stepped on the running board of his car and held him up. The men were masked and no description of them could be gleaned in the darkness.

In the night many residents have reported that they have heard persons attempting to make an entrance and who have fled when the household gave chase. In two instances, the men have been seen in homes and chased, but they have not been caught nor has any description of them been substantiated.

Residents are at a loss to know what course to follow. The district is large and it is an impossibility to guard it at all times agianst the marauders. As there is no police protection for the district the thieves are finding many homes literally easy picking for them.

Want Gun Permits.

Many residents have expressed their intention of applying for permits to carry arms as the walk out through the flat from the seventh ward is a lonely one and carries many pitfalls and opportunities for ambush.

Of late years the danger of this stretch of road has been lessened due to good working conditions, but now the highway walkers are in evidence again.

In many cases of the house breaking, appearances led residents to believe that the pilfering was being done by some who knew the actual layout of the countryside and even the interior of the homes.

In a statement made today County Detective William G. Fleming said: "The people of this section have not been reporting these robberies. We have had a report of but one of them. If they will call me at 5469 or at 161, or call the state police, we will have men on the job immediately."

ord will be given more careful study by the voters of the country. The governor is said to have told his advisers that he is confident he can convince the country that White's charges are not borne out by the facts.

There is every indication that the forthcoming statement will be the last formal defense that Governor Smith will make of his executive record. He is understood to have told his advisers that he does not intend to permit this to become an issue in the coming campaign.

The work of preparing his reply to White was nearly as tedious as the writing of his acceptance speech, the governor indicated to friends. For more than two weeks at odd moments he has been reading the 20-year-old bills mentioned in the charges made by the Kansas editor

Charge Fireman With Chicken Theft In Mercer

Earl Patton Denies Guilt And Says He Went Up To Collect Some Money Due Him

Earl Patton, 32, a member of the New Castle Fire department, stationed at Number 3 fire house, is out on bail amounting to $1,000 following his arrest for being the receiver of stolen goods and larceny, which took place Friday by Constable George Morgan of Mercer county.

Patton pleaded guilty to being the receiver of stolen goods, and on that charge was held for court on a $200 bond. On the larceny charge, he waived hearing, and was held under an $800 bail for court. Both amounts were furnished.

Eugene Axe of 710 Erie avenue, New Castle, was also held, along with Joe Isabella of 1115 Croton avenue, on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. They waived hearing, and in default of bail, were taken to the county jail at Mercer Saturday morning.

The arrests were made on information furnished by Louis R. Cox of Bethel, Shenango township, Mercer county, who charged the trio with burglarizing his chicken coop on Saturday, August 11.

According to Constable Morgan, Axe formerly worked for Cox. When he was discharged, he is said to have held a grudge against his former employer and to have planned revenge.

The Sharon Herald states that Axe got Patton to drive him and Isabella to the Cox farm. Patton remained in the car while the others committed the robbery. The loot was a shot gun, taken from the house, two hams and two chickens. Patton and the boys had a chicken dinner at the fire house where Patton is on duty, according to the constable.

In a statement made this morning, Patton declares that he had gone to Sharon with the boys to collect $16. He further says that the hams, shot gun and chickens were taken in place of the money, and that he is in no way implicated in the robbery.

It takes two to make immodesty—one of them no longer innocent.

GANG WARS

THE gang wars that are troubling the larger American cities are only of indirect interest to the nation at large. The public is more concerned with their connection with the crime wave than with the casualties as long as they do not include innocent bystanders. There is no public mourning when gangsters slay each other.

The first reaction to these sordid and sensational crimes is that the crooks are killing each other and when thieves fall out honest men get their dues. There is something comforting in these words, until the realization comes that killings may lead to gang rule rather than government by law.

The manner in which the gangs work is a challenge to the police and to civilization itself. In Philadelphia's gang war a man is shot down on the sidewalk in the heart of the city. A few days later New York gunmen arrive, seek out the suspected slayer in his hiding place and murder him in his bed. Here is unheard of efficiency in crime. It would be unbelievable if it were not vouched for by the police.

Everybody admits that the authorities are handicapped in their efforts to track down the guilty persons. The gangs are better organized than the police, it seems, and the noose and chair seem to hold no horrors for the killers. The courts cannot imprison a man without good evidence of guilt, and in most instances the police have shown an inability to collect any substantial evidence in gang killings. Should gang warfare become widespread it will present a national problem with as many difficult angles as the crime wave and quite as menacing to the public welfare and safety.

CARICATURING TYPES

THE "comic alien" of the stage is remembered by this generation but is seen no longer. Closed is the day of this form of theatrical caricature. No more is seen the orange-haired Irishman, with a face like an Airedale, offering beer to an excessively French, short-skirted, high-heeled soubrette who demands champagne in scornful tones.

Gone from the stage is the haw-haw Englishman, with his monocle, mustache and exaggerated manner of speech. Laugh provokers of the modern stage are not German jesters in sky-blue pantaloons, Italian organ-grinders, or Chinese laundrymen, Swiss bell-ringers, Spanish bull-fighters or Scotch highlanders.

Burlesques on native types have supplanted the comic alien on the American stage. The comedians and comediennes of the present-day stage are caricatures of American types. Travelers report that in London, Paris and Berlin an actor, bespectacled, in American attire, chewing gum and taking long strides about the stage, will rock the house from pit to gallery before even one nasal word escapes him.

There is only one explanation for this anomalous situation and that is that the American people discovered the foreign types before the mirth-provoking possibilities of the native types dawned upon them. Just another illustration for the theme of the famous "Acres of Diamonds" address of the late Dr. Russell Conwell.

THINNING RANKS

AS THE time draws near for another national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, attention is directed again to the "last encampment," which is as inevitable as death itself.

The last encampment is just around the corner. There is pathos in those words. The end draws near. The ranks have thinned, and the few remaining veterans in blue march slowly if they march at all. The annual gathering of the Union soldiers becomes increasingly a tax upon the declining years.

Bravely the old men go each year to meet their comrades in convention, not counting that the effort hastens the final roll call. Each year the national encampment roll call grows shorter and the number of posts fewer. The last chapter in a great episode in American history is being written. It should have a glorious climax.

Someone has suggested an encampment in the national capital, an encampment at which both the blue and the gray may join hands to celebrate the closing of the breach, and then adjournment sine die. A meeting of the remnants of the two armies, whose hearts now beat in a common loyalty to their country's flag, would be a fitting end.

The American people are awaiting an opportunity to pay such a tribute to the heroes of that great struggle.

For genuine obscurity, suppose there were a vice presidency of Italy.

The happiest person is one that hasn't anything to scold about except feminine styles.

Things even up. American prisons are harder to get into but easier to get out of.

It will soon be the "Talkies" instead of the "Movies."

The coming campaign is going to be distinguished for a great deal of criticism, argument and oratory.

The reason there is so much litigation in the courts over wills is because so many people are willing to put up a fight for something they did not expect to get in the first place—just take a chance.

For the same reason they build the rivers near the large cities they build the good roads near the billboards.

There are still many tribes and nations in which the women do all the work and the men loaf around and have an easy time. However there does not seem to be a great rush of men from this country to such places.

"Jim" Borland's Column

FRED RENTZ HAS SOME WONDERFUL FLOWERS, TOO

Larry Gent, Deputy Boxing Commissioner, had invited me to ride with him to New Castle, Monday, where he was to be in charge of the weekly bouts that are held each Monday night in the Jolly Bowl, an open-air fistic arena that is proving very popular over there, and I accepted because it afforded me an opportunity for a little visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz. We were accompanied by Frank Bensinger.

I will not come to the part of the story to which the heading invites attention until its place, as I will relate in detail the particulars of the delightful afternoon and evening in the order in order in which everything occurred.

First, we stopped for ten minutes at Harlansburg, the little town of my nativity, where I rushed around the corner a few doors to call on the only man who remembers me as a boy there, Sam Knarem. Of course, he was delighted with my unexpected call and urged that I come back some Sunday to enjoy a chicken dinner with him and Mrs. Knarem. I promised I would, for it would be a genuine treat to find out again, after all these years, whether a Harlansburg chicken retains the old-time taste.

Fred, who is one of the most loyal and lovable of my old-time friends, had written me to come directly to The Castleton, the wonderful new hotel, where the Rotarians would be in session, if I arrived by 1 o'clock. Fortunately, we got there shortly after that hour, and Larry dropped me off right at the hotel entrance, where Kate, Fred's wife, was waiting for me and directed me to the room where the Rotarians were lunching. Fred had taken a seat right by the door, so that the moment I stepped inside I was with him.

H. J. Kruse, superintendent of the Akron division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was just completing a talk on "Transportation," during which he had stressed the fact that the time is coming when some plan must be formulated to prevent accidents at railroad crossings. This was followed by a brief report on the work the club is doing for crippled children, 3,000 of whom, it developed, are in Lawrence county and most all of whom the club has had examined. Of course, they have taken up many of these cases and have several of the children in the hospital at the present time. Following this, Fred asked the privilege of presenting me to the club and I was given quite an ovation.

At the conclusion of the meeting we met Kate outside and proceeded to The News office, a square above on the same street, where we remained until the paper went to press, about 5 o'clock. Fred's son, Jake, business manager of the paper, has been on the Pacific coast for the last ten weeks, but will be home on the 23rd. During his absence "the old man" has been on the job each day, and, needless to say, has given a good account of himself. He showed me, in one quarter of Jake's office, a couple of dozen packages, both large and small, which contained purchases by him and his wife on their trip. Jake will no doubt have a regular Santa Claus time of it when he opens these packages upon his return.

Ed Fritz, sporting editor of The News, who is the publicity agent and signs up the fighters for the Jolly Bowl, dropped in and tried to persuade Fred and I to attend the fight, but we are both built alike in that respect—would not walk across the street to see one. When we left the office we did the next best thing, however—he drove out to show me the location of the Bowl and what it looks like.

From there we proceeded to the beautiful home of the Rentzes on Edison avenue, the first thing that caught my eye on entering the ground being a splendid specimen of the Rose of Sharon, the blooms on this particular one being white, though there was another, with pink flowers,

What Time Is It?
Beating the Moon.
Sinkable Life Guards.
Spiritual Gendarmerie.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

In New York city on Thursday 10,240 Americans spent 5 cents each to ask "What time is it?" The telephone company had refused to answer that question but decided to answer and charge a nickel. "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

The American indifference to 5 cents is a sign of prosperity also foolish laziness in some cases.

Dealers in clocks and watches are invited to insert in this newspaper an advertisement to this effect: "Buy our clock—or watch—and you won't need to pay a nickel for the correct time."

Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer finished in seven hours the first 800 miles of their journey from Illinois to Sweden, flying 110 miles an hour. That will seem a snail's pace to future generations.

Men have already beaten the moon in its journey around the earth. The moon's trip takes a little more than 27 days. Fliers have made the trip in 23 days.

Beating the moon around the earth is one achievement. The next will be TIE the sun in its apparent journey around the earth.

With machines flying 1,000 miles an hour, gentlemen wanting a prolonged sun bath will be able to fly directly under the sun, following it around the earth for 24 hours or longer.

New York's civil service commission investigated the qualities of life guards hired by politicians to protect New York city's beaches. They were supposed to dash into the boiling surf and save the drowning.

It was found that of 163 guards 15 couldn't swim a stroke, 18 more refused to "risk the swimming test in the water." They thought it too dangerous.

In the words of Mr. Cook of Los Angeles imagine their embarrassment when one cried "help."

There may be something in the statement that politicians are not fit to attend to any kind of business In New York they certainly are not fit to select life guards.

In Mexico the Indians a very large percentage of the population, are said to be "reverting to paganism, being deprived of priests."

Government restrictions and interference with religious exercises have caused "the lower classes to lose respect for the churches."

The Mexican law forbidding any but Mexicans to exercise priestly functions leaves large populations without religious guidance.

It is strange in this country to see two countries, so far apart as Russia and Mexico experimenting in religious interference. The French did the same even more drastically after the Revolution.

But when Napoleon came to power he re-established the church and the salaries of the priesthood, saying "I need a spiritual gendarmerie as well as a physical army."

Mexico and Russia may learn that they also need the co-operation of a "spiritual gendarmerie."

Distressing news from the south tells of floods and damage to crops affecting four states.

Fortunately the south has developed great resources financially, industrially and otherwise. Well-established powers of recuperation will soon eliminate the effects of a temporary setback.

When a gasoline launch exploded in North Bay, Ontario a priest, a man and wife and two children, were thrown into the water. All but the father perished.

With his two little children one aged 2 years, one only a month old in his arms, the father endeavored to swim to the shore a mile away.

But exhausted he was obliged to drop the children. He reached the shore alone.

It was a noble effort. The only difference between a father and a mother in such a case is that THE MOTHER WOULD HAVE DIED WITH THE CHILDREN.

British railroads recognize in the motor but a competitive peril and have reduced rates for week-end and round-trip day tickets as much as one-third with more reductions to come.

White will competition be when flying becomes commercialized? Intelligent railroad men know that soon there will be no long-distance passenger travel by rail.

As for coast-to-coast travel the railroad Pullman will be extinct.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE CHILD IN SUMMER

The child presents a problem in summer even more than in winter.

During the winter he is at school most of the day under charge of the school teacher, and the parents are concerned with him only for the morning and evening. In the summer time he is at home all day.

Emerson says that the child learns more from the book under the desk than from the book over the desk, which is another way of saying that a child learns more by play than in any other way.

In some schools there are teachers on the playgrounds to direct and to co-operate with the child's play.

Nowadays parents send their children to summer camps. In these camps play predominates, but there is careful supervision.

But many families cannot afford to send their children to these camps.

Something ought to be done for the city children who perforce must play in the streets. The Child Study Association of America has tackled this problem. Nineteen Summer Play Schools were opened in New York in July under its direction. Children are given through these schools a program. The city of New York is constantly widening its activity in this respect.

While the kind of work that a child does in summer must differ radically from the kind of work he does in winter, more stress being laid on play, at the same time he ought always to be subject to discipline. Hand work, music, and home-making are more suitable in summer. Gardening can also be taught. Then there's play, which also is subject to certain rules in order to get the most fun out of it and to have it do the most good.

When one has a child he takes on a twenty-four-hour-a-day job and a task that lasts 365 days in a year. It is a labor of love, of course, but just the same it is a kind of work to which we should apply all the intelligence we possess. It is not labor lost, for in addition to the good it does a child it always helps adults in a hundred subtle ways to keep in contact with children.

Tomorrow—Vacation.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HARVARD AND CALIFORNIA.

The Harvard four-oared crew with coxswain discovered that the savory old chestnut about the "Swiss Navy" contained a specimen of the worm that turned, for the victory of the Swiss four-oared crew over the United States in the Olympic race at Sloten, Holland, decidely dulled the point of a classical jest, and permitted the Helvetii to avenge their aquatic honor. The sporting Cambridge boat load has had its fun, however.

It also was composed of agile turners. Two of the oarsmen were substitutes for the 1928 Harvard varsity crew at New London, Two others were members of that crew who lost their seats after the Yale race and before the Olympic try-outs.

The "Four" borrowed a shell from St. Mark's School, practiced together for a bit, took the train to Philadelphia, saw the Crimson eight-oar go down to defeat in the first trial, and shortly afterwards joyfully packed their own valises to board the S. S. President Roosevelt after winning the four-oared trial with just a couple of feet to spare.

They were dealt defeat at Sloten first by the German four-oared shell and finally by the Swiss which removed them from further competition, but their venture remains a real sporting affair. Its unsuccessful termination made the California Eight the only American college combination to win Olympic rowing honors.

This California crew heard the warning "Ready All!" on the starting line for the finals, August 10, and feathered across the finish line a winner by nearly a full boat length over the Eight representing Thames Rowing Club representing All England.

It was a great crew. It won at Poughkeepsie, Philadelphia and Sloten.

THE RACE

"Life is a long race," once they said to me,
"And only those who keep the goal in sight
And struggle forward, blind to left or right
Can ever hope to gain the victory,
And victor every boy should strive to be."
But there were trees abloom and hedgerows bright,
Soft clouds above and scenes of strange delight
And hills and streams and countless charms to see.

I was distracted from that chief pursuit.
I chose to walk who should have kept the pace,
I heard birds sing and watched the ripening fruit
And quite forgot that life is just a race!
Now in the dusk I trail among the last
Thinking them fools who rushed ahead so fast.

LABOR SPURNS POLITICS

General approval is given by the press of the country to the action of labor leaders in the American Federation, for their decision against committing that organization to any party in the national political campaign. Many reasons are set forth for the judgment that this attitude was the only effective one that could have been adopted. Differing party affiliations among the members are assumed to be the rule, and the record of 1924 is held to have been a lesson to the unions.

"It is virtually impossible," declares the COLUMBUS EVENING DISPATCH (Ind.), "that either of the two great parties should assume an attitude of hostility towards the laboring classes, or even of indifference towards labor's rights and aspirations. An actual fight against either party could be justified only if the party concerned should assume a clearly hostile attitude—a condition that certainly does not exist in the present campaign, and is not at all likely to exist in any campaign to come." The SYRACUSE HERALD (Ind.) holds that "the inevitable result of a partisan stand by the national body of the trades unions would be to provoke antagonisms which, to say the least, would detract from its legitimate strength and influence."

"Members of the American Federation of Labor no doubt endorse the union label as applied to the products of union labor," suggests the LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.), "but they know that it has no business being attached to political candidates. They naturally and properly resent anything that may even give the appearance that they are sheep whose votes can be delivered en bloc by union officials." The DETROIT FREE PRESS (Ind.) points out that "as new issues arise, or the various parties shift the emphasis of their attention to labor matters, American labor, as long as it adheres to its policy of non-partisanship, can support Presidential or congressional candidates most likely to promote its interests. Whenever it has abandoned that freedom of action in the past, it has had reason to rue its decision."

Still greater independence is advocated by the LOWELL EVENING LEADER (Ind. Rep.), with the statement: "The voters of organized labor are competent to judge for themselves. They may be safely and preferably allowed to do so. And the interests of labor, which the Federation was organized to maintain, will be best conserved when it functions on a strictly non-partisan basis." The Leader also feels sure that "there is no desire to repeat the blunder of 1924, when the candidacy of LaFollette was endorsed. That experience has not been forgotten. It proved the futility of attempting to deliver the labor vote in the mass."

It is recalled by the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE (Ind. Dem.) that in the election of 1924, "the result proved the indorsement futile and the 'organized labor vote' undeliverable on order. . . . The men in the labor ranks voted their individual convictions and political beliefs just about as freely as did their fellow citizens in other walks. Doubtless they will do that this year, regardless of whether or not the Federation's executive committee changes its 'non-partisan policy' later in the campaign. And surely that is what all American voters should do, for their own and their country's good."

"The unfortunate and divisive effect of the 1924 action," according to the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind.), "appears to have carried its lesson for the Federation of Labor. . . . The policy resolved upon is pretty clearly a case of the burnt child dreading the fire." The policy of "non-intervention in Presidential elections" is viewed by the NEW YORK HERALD

Near Accident At St. Vitus Festival Saturday Evening

What was nearly an accident was narrowly averted Saturday evening on Maitland street at the St. Vitus festival when the platform upon which some 30 persons and an automobile were standing gave way and nearly collapsed.

The persons standing on the platform leaped to the ground and the car on the platform sank several feet. A small chair acted as brace and held the platform from crashing completely to the ground.

No one was injured and the car was not damaged to any great extent. Police kept careful watch over the broken pavilion during the rest of the evening.

Visits Canada On Motor Trip

Thornton Allen, of 409 West South street, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. T. D. Allen, and sister, Miss Lilah Allen, returned home Saturday from a two week's motor trip to places of interest in the north eastern section of the country.

Allen states that they visited all of the important cities along the St. Lawrence river, including Montreal and Quebec. They made the return trip down through New York state, stopping enroute at Syracuse and other cities. A visit was also paid to the Five Finger lakes region in that state. Coudersport, Pa., was also visited before returning.

but he won her when he learned what was wrong

He was dumbfounded! To be cut dead like that by her—the one girl he cared for! Why had she done it?

He didn't know then—but that very evening an advertisement caught his eye. It told about "B.O." —Body Odor! It explained that no one is safe from this unpardonable fault; and that the offender seldom suspects he is guilty.

Perhaps that was it. He had noticed that lately many people looked at him queerly whenever he approached them. He was sure he had learned the secret.

Today this same chap is a great favorite everywhere. And he has won the girl who snubbed him. Read how he found that the simple way to overcome his handicap was delightful, too.

Body odor needless now

"I first got Lifebuoy as a deodorizing toilet soap to guard against body odor. But we liked it so well that soon the whole family was using it for all toilet purposes.

"Lifebuoy gives so much lather, is so cleansing and invigorating. After a Lifebuoy bath, you feel clean, refreshed—no fear of 'B.O.'

Fine for complexions, too

"Lifebuoy's gentle, antiseptic lather is splendid for the skin, too. My sister's complexion looks much softer and smoother since she started using Lifebuoy. We also feel that Lifebuoy helps protect our health because it removes germs.

"And Lifebuoy is such a clean-smelling toilet soap. This clean scent vanishes as soon as you rinse."

Try Lifebuoy a week and you, too, will use it for life. Get some today.

Many New Bridges Get Approval Of Department

Lawrence County Has Three Which Pass Investigation By Resources Board

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—Counties in the state this year are spending thousands of dollars for the construction of new bridges. Approval has been given by the Water and Power Resources Board for the building of sixty-eight bridge and applications are pending for the construction of nineteen others.

Many of the bridges planned to be built or those under construction are located on State highways. Others are situated across small streams on country or township roads.

Chester county has the most comprehensive bridge building program under way this year at least in the number of projects. The commissioners of that county already have received permission to build six new structures and they have applications pending for four more. In Bucks county approval has been given by the board for the building of five bridges and four in Fayette.

Permission has been given by the board for the building of three bridges in each of the following counties: Montgomery, Monroe, Cambria, Washington, Delaware, Mercer, Westmoreland and Northampton. Snyder and Wayne counties each have applications pending for the erection of three bridges although Snyder has received permission to build one new bridge.

Bridges approved by the Board by counties follow: Tioga, Allegheny, McKean, Indiana, Columbia, Schuylkill and Lawrence, two each; Susquehanna, Clinton, Lackawanna, Armstrong, Butler, Lebanon, Somerset, Jefferson, Centre, Lycoming, Franklin, Cumberland, Bradford and York, one apiece.

The bridges in Lawrence county that the Board has approved are: Slippery Rock Creek, at Kennedy Mills; Neshannock Creek at East Brook Station and Neshannock Creek, in New Castle.

TRIBUNE (Rep.) as "a great gain for sound politics," and that paper adds: "Some of the Federation members are for Mr. Hoover and some are for Governor Smith. But there is a reason why they should be for either simply because of the membership cards which they hold. They are citizens first." The Herald Tribune feels that "organized labor ought not to be made the tail of any political party's kite, and, since it does not wish to create a party of its own, it is only logical that it should avoid nationwide political commitments."

"It is the diversity of political opinion in democratic America's industrialism," states the KANSAS CITY JOURNAL (Rep.), "which has made it possible for any one partisan movement ever to be justly held unfriendly to labor. Mr. Gompers was a lifelong Democrat, and usually his comments on politics bore the marks of his party favoritism. Yet, during all his long direction of organized labor it is probable that a majority of the workers of the country voted the Republican ticket. Union leaders will not more effectually shape political thinking of their followers in this campaign by suggestion or example." The TRENTON EVENING TIMES (Ind.) reminds its readers that "America has no labor party," and that, because of that fact, "the only practicable course is for labor to hold itself aloof and avaluate individual candidates"; that "any attempt to control their votes would be sure to have a disastrous effect upon the organization."

"It would have been a bold and unwarranted assumption," maintains the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), "if the executive council of the A. F. of L. had attempted to speak for 'organized labor'. It has neither the authority nor adequate means of information to determine the political purpose or interest of its million members. Moreover, the executive council is mindful that 'the American Federation of Labor has found from experience that the best interests of the entire membership have been protected and conserved through a strict adherence to the non-partisan political policy'."

"Business interests concerned with politics," observes the DAYTON DAILY NEWS (Ind. Dem.), "long ago ceased to follow party lines in the bestowal of their support. They supported their supporters of whatever party. Trade unions, trained in pursuit of their own interests, have learned to do the same."

Reviewing the favor that was bestowed by labor upon President Wilson in 1916, the NEW YORK WORLD (Ind.) explains: "He had just signed the Adamson act, and his Clayton act was a long step toward abolishing the injunction weapon agains labor. Both enactments were under fire, and labor came to their aid. Except under such extraordinary conditions as in 1916, labor's entry into politics is risky—and also largely ineffective."

to the right of it. Of course, the first order of business, after relieving ourselves of our coats and hats, was to visit the garden, which easily shows the care that has been bestowed upon it since I last saw it, two yaers ago. He tells me he has over 50 varieties, the most of them of the old-fashioned kind. Some that were new to me were Golden Ball, which he said will be covered entirely with red in the fall; Joseph's Coat, so named because it blooms in many colors, and Snow On the Mountains, which, as its name indicates, is topped with white. He has only half a dozen Cannas, but the two of these in bloom bore unusually beautiful clusters of petals of velvety texture. I never before saw any like them. There were Glads, Petunias, Marigolds, Zinnias and other flowers in profusion, and, in addition to the stately Hollyhocks, he had some Sunflowers. Fred called my especial attention to a Japanese Sand Pear tree on which he says the foliage is wonderful in both the spring and fall, but that it never bears any fruit. In that respect it is like his three Japanese cherry trees between the sidewalk and the curb, which he says were loaded with blossoms last spring. The back wall of his garden is covered with 15 Rambler Rose bushes, which put up a very beautiful display when they were in bloom. I must not forget the rose bushes, of which he has many and a number of which are now blooming, for he is especially fond of them. On my advice Fred is ordering a Judas Tree to place on his lawn.

In one corner he has his vegetable garden, where he raises all the tomatoes, cucumbers, beans, potatoes, lettuce and peppers that they use. Fred does all the work in the garden, with both the flowers and vegetables, and extracts great enjoyment from it. And, in showing them to me, he was constantly exclaiming, with all the enthusiasm of a boy: "Just look at this! And that! And that!", pointing in the direction of what he was calling to my attention. It has always been noticeable to me, more than in any other man I ever knew, this boyish enthusiasm that Fred displays in everything he does.

Following the very appetizing dinner so graciously served by my host and hostess, we "listened in" on the radio for a time and then went for a drive, the first objective point being Cascade park. Here we parked the car and took a stroll through this great playground and picnic resort. I was astonished not alone by its size, but by its scenic beauty; the system by which everything is arranged and carried out, including the landscape gardening with its old-fashioned flowers, in evidence everywhere; the swimming pool, and the lake with its little steamer and supply of row boats. Then one cannot help but remarking on the cleanliness of the grounds. The ravine, with its high water falls and great rocks, is beyond my power of description. It must be seen to be appreciated.

Then we went to the section of the city where the Jameson Memorial hospital, which will accommodate 150 beds, is in course of construction, with expectation of its completion by December 1st. David Jameson, some months before his death, provided $600,000 for this hospital, and his widow started the work and has been superintending it, which, it is understood, will cost more than the sum given by Mr. Jameson. In addition, at one side a nurses' home, the gift of Mrs. Jameson and her daughter, has been built. In other ways Mrs. Jameson's philanthropy has proved a great boon to the city.

After leaving here we went by the Junior High building, an imposing structure, being erected at an expenditure of $1,000,000. There is already another Junior High in another section of the city.

Returning to the Rentz home, we proceeded to the third floor where, in a small room fitted for the purpose, I was treated to a view of the films that had been taken by Mrs. Rentz, who operated the machine. One of these, that she particularly wanted me to see, were pictures of myself and "Jimmy" Murrin's two children, Nita May and Ralph Calvin, at the time of the unveiling of the bird fountain in the park. Another reel contained pictures of a bull fight in Mexico which Mrs. Rentz filmed when they were on their trip last winter.

Another program on the radio filled in the time until the hour arrived when I was to meet my companions at the Hotel Leslie for the return, when Fred drove me there for that purpose. As they had not arrived I took advantage of the opportunity to go around the corner to the Fountain Inn for a half hour's chat with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Maple, which made a fitting end to a most perfect afternoon and evening.

Lombard, military attache of the French embassy in Washington, D. C.

Efforts are being made to have Col. Charles A. Lindbergh here for the dedication of the new Floyd Bennett airport near here. The ceremonies for this dedication have been scheduled for Thursday and Friday, and officials state they have arranged for the Los Angeles and a fleet of naval planes to participate in the maneuvers.

Business sessions of the Legion will begin Thursday morning. The Forty and Eight parade is set for Friday night and the general Legion parade will be held Saturday afternoon. The Forty and Eight banquet is scheduled for Wednesday night at the Uniontown Country Club.

Keen Battle Expected

Indications are that a keen battle will be waged in the selection of the 1929 Legion convention site. Scranton and Philadelphia delegations have entered their bids for the convention. Scranton is forecast as having the edge over the Philadelphians. Conneaut Lake is also reported to have strong supporters scrambling for the convention.

As a part of their preparation, Uniontown city officials have made arrangements for a special detachment of state troopers to be assigned here during the three days of the convention to police the city. The troopers, with a corps of detectives and plainclothes men, will assist in keeping order and in protecting guests from crooks.

South Americans Interested In Cultural Life

Institue Founded And Representative Sent To This Country To Study Conditions

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20.—"We hope to acquaint the Argentine public with some of the cultural ideals of the United States, and, reciprocally, we hope to introduce to the people of the United States an idea of Argentine culture," said Dr. Cuperino del Campo, a member of the executive committee of the new Argentine-North American Cultural institute, who is now in this country.

"The institute was founded on May 9 when certain prominent residents of Buenos Aires interested in the cultural progress of the United States gathered to take formal action on plans that had already been discussed. A constitution previously prepared by a provisional committee was approved and an executive committee and officers chosen for the club."

Although yet young, the institute has proved itself very successful. It consists of more than a hundred members, among whom are distinguished educators, lawyers, engineers and authors. The treasury contains over 10,000 pesos, collected both from dues and voluntary contributions to the work which the club is promoting. On May 19 the first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the club was given by Dr. David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California, who is now visiting Latin American universities on behalf of the Carnegie endowment for international peace. Dr. Barrows spoke at length on university education in the United States.

Besides sponsoring such lectures, the institute endorses the interchange of students and teachers of both nations, as well as the exchange of collections for libraries, museums and art galleries. It is also planned to establish scholarships for Argentine and United States students who wish to continue their studies in the other country. In this way it is hoped that interest will be developed in the study of the Spanish language in the United States and in the study of English in Argentina.

Intellectual Type.

Similar associations have already been established in Argentina for the purpose of acquainting the nation with the intellectual life of various foreign countries. Among these the French group has been particularly active for some time. The new institute, however, is the first one formed in Latin America for the purpose of cultural interchange with the United States.

The intsitute's representative now in the United States, Dr. del Campo, is a distinguished judge, professor and writer. He is well known in Argentina for being a public-spirited man, and among the many organizations with which he is connected is the Rotary club of Buenos Aires, of which he is the past president, and he is also governor for the International Rotary for Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and Paraguay. Although he is interested in all phases of culture, his specialty lies in the field of art. As director of the Museum of Fine Arts of Buenos Aires he has a commission from his government to visit expositions, museums and art centers of the United States and to make contacts with as many artists and collectors as possible. He is arranging for the exchange of exhibitions between institutions in this country and Argentina. While here he hopes to obtain a clear understanding of the spirit of United States art and of the work of the institutions developing art. Upon returning to his own country, Dr. del Campo expects to be called upon many times to interpret to the Argentines the artistic and cultural side of the United States.

Women Of Colorado Unveil Monument To Victims Of Cannibals

(International News Service)

LAKE CITY, Colo. Aug. 20.—Five men, victims of hideous cannibalism during the winter of 1873-74 were honored here recently when the Ladies Union Aid society of this city, sponsored the unveiling of a monument at the head of their graves.

A party of 21 men was organized in Salt Lake City to start on a prospecting tour into the mountains of Colorado. When they reached a point where Montrose now stands they met Chief Ouray, who warned them that snow had been heavy in the mountains and that all game had made its way to the lowlands. Six men refused to heed this warning and headed for Dead Man's Gulch near here.

The next spring Alfred Packer one of the six appeared in civilization, but nothing was seen of the other five. Officers acting on the theory that Packer might have murdered and eaten the other men arrested him and after much grilling obtained a confession.

Packer was convicted and sentenced to hang for the crime but obtained a new trial during which he was sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary.

Sheboygan In Lead In Modern Paving

Millionth Yard Of Concrete Laid As City Celebrates

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Aug. 20.—Completion of the millionth square yard of concrete street pavement here today was celebrated by the entire city. State, county and other officials joined in congratulating the city on its achievement, which is considered unusual for a community of this size.

The millionth yard was placed in the presence of a large crowd with impressive ceremonies. A brass plate, one yard square, was set into the pavement at the exact point to indicate the passing of this record in the long service of the 74-year-old city engineer, C. U. Boley. Of the 68 miles of paved streets in Sheboygan, more than 53 are concrete.

Coincident with the celebration of the millionth yard was the observance of the 40th anniversary of Boley's service as city engineer. A banquet given at the Chamber of Commerce in his honor was attended by visiting officials and representative citizens who presented Boley a handsomely bound statement of regard for his efficient service, signed by those present.

Find Acute Situation In Polluted Waters Of Connecticut Rivers

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 20.—The Connecticut state water commission, specially appointed to consider how to end pollution of the state's rivers, lakes and seashore, finds an "acute situation exists at shore and inland resorts." The commission has announced that "if it is allowed to develop much further it will seriously affect health and surely eliminate all public bathing."

The summer population of Connecticut has increased so fast that it has been impossible for sanitation measures to keep pace, the commission finds. "The very factors which constitute the chief charms of the state present a perplexing situation which the small community cannot cope with unaided."

The "summer visitor industry" is too valuable for the state to lose, the commission finds, and so will make every effort to save it.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FOE OR FRIEND?

"It seemed as if it was going to be a case of 'Out of the nest into the cat's jaws' with us, didn't it, wifie?" asked Bobolink.

"As I said before, there wife and I were out upon the sand watching the Night Watchman fly off to his perch in some distant tree-top when we heard a noise that was half-way between a boom and a rattle. It sounded very near and we turned around quickly.

"Standing almost knee-deep in the water was a bird that looked like the Night Heron—as well as we were able to tell from what we had seen of the cannibal in the dark. This fellow was not very large—just about the size of a duck I should say, and his legs were short but upon his head he wore a magnificent plume of jetty black feathers that were so long they hung almost to the middle of his back when he lifted up his head—and he was lifting up his head when we first caught sight of him for he was in the act of devouring a fish. It was half way in his beak when first we saw him.

"In quicker time that it takes to tell it, wife and I had spread our wings and flown on a high clump of wire grass that grew upon the bank. We could watch him from there and if he started towards us we would make a quick escape, hopping from grass to grass. We were sure he could not catch us. The fellow had seen us, however, and now he called out:

"'Hi there! What are you two birds afraid of? Don't fly off like that!'

"We Bobolinks had seen too much of Night Heron to be deceived by a bird that looked so much like him, and wife kept urging me to be cautious—just as if I hadn't intended to be, anyhow. So I called:

"'We have our own good reason for not staying near you, my fine fellow

WE HAVE OUR OWN GOOD REASON FOR NOT STAYING NEAR YOU, MY FINE FELLOW."

We have just spent the night hiding from the Night Watchman and you resemble him greatly. I must say we do not trust you!'

"'Spent the night hiding from the Night Watchman!' exclaimed the fellow, looking at us in amazement. 'How did you ever live to tell the story? You must be very clever little birds! That cousin of mine is a great hunter. I never would have believed that any stranger roaming about in the night could have managed to keep out of his clutches. But then, why do you fear me? I am not Night Heron, you know. Everything I do—I do in the light. My deeds are all open and aboveboard. I am only Boat-Bill.'

"'Didn't you say that you were Night Heron's cousin? Then you must have some of his traits!' declared I.

"'And didn't we see you swallowing a fish?' chirped wife. 'Of course you may be friendly, all right, but wouldn't we be foolish to have escaped from the bill of Night Heron only to land in the beak of a Boat-Bill? Thanks just the same, we will stay where we are. But you might tell us why you are called Boat-Bill! I never heard of such a queer name.'"

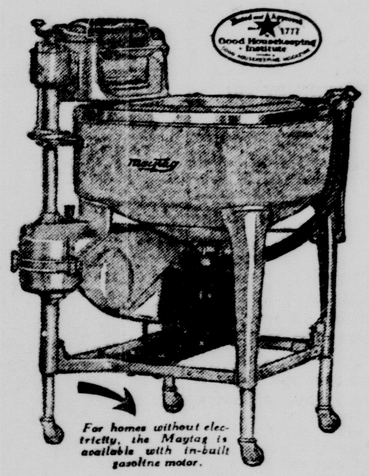
Next—"Boastful Billy Boat-Bill."

Overalls or Lingerie

Washed in the MAYTAG in 2 to 7 minutes!

SUCH remarkable washing speed was unthought of before the Maytag originated the Gyrafoam washing action and the heat-retaining cast-aluminum tub. Yet it washes the daintiest garments as carefully as if done by hand—washes by water action alone—a torrent of water passing back and forth through the meshes of the clothes, and the soap and water kept thoroughly mixed in every inch of the tub.

This effective but careful method washes the stubborn edge-dirt from collars and cuffs, the ground-in dirt from play-clothes or overalls without hand-rubbing. An average washing takes about an hour.



For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor.

The New Roller Water Remover

The Maytag Roller Water Remover has large rolls, the top one soft, the bottom one hard. They exert equal pressure on all parts of the garment regardless of folds, lumps and seams, remove both soap and water evenly from all parts of the garment and spare the buttons.

PHONE for a Trial Washing

You may use a Maytag for your next washing without cost or obligation. You will find that it brings washday happiness. You will discover why it won world leadership. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Glimpses Of Nature

By OWEN PENFIELD FOX

Sunday I spent the day with a friend of mine that has a lovely garden located back of an old stone house. As we browsed among the flowers our conversation was of birds. If one grows a great variety of flowers you will have lots of birds, as birds love to wing about scented blooms.

In this garden grew a trumphet vine to attract the humming birds. Along a stone walk were set a few posts where clustering grapevines hung, for they are a sure attraction for catbirds. The warbler will come and be your guest the long summer days.

Located in one corner of this garden were mulberry trees, which attract many birds, who would feast on the ripened fruit.

Leaving the garden, we visited some big trees on a well-kept lawn, where we rested and listened to the whistle of the Bob-White. From a swaying limb a song sparrow caroled sweet music, and a group of crackles busied themselves right at our feet, chasing small insects about. Above our heads, perched on a swaying wire, were a group of wild canaries whose cheerful song wafted to us in its clear beauty as they swung merrily to and fro.

Bird life and their song are on the wane, for in these beautiful August days there is a touch of fall. And as I left my friend at twilight I carried pleasant memories with me of a man who plants a garden as a playground for bird life.

FALSE ALARM

Boys playing around a fire alarm box is thought to be the reason why firemen were called to the vicinity of Sampson street and McCleary avenue at 10:50 Sunday evening.

When the companies arrived at the place from which the alarm was sounded, they could find no trace of fire.

Nothing seems worth as much as it costs until you reflect that a gang funeral can be had for $75,000.

'THE LAST LAUGH'

Butler Disapproves Hoover's Stand On Prohibition Issue

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler Says Herbert Hoover Has Taken Wrong Stand

Declares Eighteenth Amendment Must Be Wiped Out To Insure Enforcement

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and uncompromising foe of prohibition, today declared his vigorous disapproval of Herbert Hoover's stand for enforcement, reaffirming his belief that the Eighteenth Amendment must be wiped out "if the constitution itself is to be preserved and protected."

Continuing the fight he began more than a year ago to win the Republican party over to the repeal movement, a fight which he carried personally and lone-handed to the floor of the Kansas City convention after encountering overwhelming defeat in the platform committee Butler declared that, "anyone who is opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment must then be in favor of the only alternative, which is the continuance of the present reign of lawlessness, debauchery and government-made crime."

Coupled with his denunciation of Hoover's acceptance-speech utterances on the prohibition question, Butler, in an open letter made public at his Southampton, L. I., summer home, also expressed dissention with the Republican nominee's stand on disarmament and world peace.

Assails Hoover

He assailed Hoover's brief treatment of "The truly remarkable treaty just now being signed by ourselves and all the great powers of the earth pledging renunciation of war." He denounced as false doctrine, over turned by the whole trend of history since the World war, Hoover's statement that "adequate preparedness for Defense" is a factor contributing to the maintenance of peace.

"Surely," he said, "The repetition of this ancient and discarded doctrine will not be accepted by the masses of the Republican party or by the people."

A life-long Republican, and long interested, as president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, in the world movement for disarmament, Butler was himself a presidential candidate before the Chicago convention in 1920. His break with Hoover withdraws from the national ticket in the pivotal New York campaign the support of one of the most widely known Republicans in the Empire state.

Butler expressed the view that "Literally millions of earnest Republicans throughout the country" are in full agreement with him.

"It is quite obvious that Mr. Hoover has no conception of the real problem by which the country is faced and which has been under eager debate for some five years," Butler said relative to prohibition. "That problem has to do not with liquor, not with social experiments, good, bad or indifferent, but with the structure and functions of the government of the United States.

"The amendment is an alien, an unnaturalized invader of the constitution and must be deported by the people if the constitution itself is to be protected and preserved.

Opposes Repeal

"Mr. Hoover is opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and at this point his troubles begin. Accepting the formula of that paid band of agitators, lobbyists and persecutors, which calls itself the anti-saloon league, he speaks of nullification as if it were an unheard of and horrid thing. As a matter of fact, the word 'nullification' should not be used to describe what Mr. Hoover has in mind. . . . The process and action which it is now fashionable to call nullification are the accepted and usual ways by which any free people, and particularly the American people, have gotten rid of laws that they did not like or that were offensive to their sense of justice and right.

"The parrot-like cry for law enforcement means somewhat less than nothing. The facts being what they are, to declare for law enforcement in respect to the Eighteenth Amendment is to declare for lawlessness and for a continuous and organized assault, under official protection, upon the foundations of our government."

"Of what I have written, I say in the words which Patrick Henry made famous: 'If this be treason, make the most of it!' "

Y. W. C. A. CAMP NEWS

Rev. C. J. Williamson of the Highland U. P. church conducted the vesper services at Camp East Brook on Sunday. His text was found in the book of Genesis, the topic for the service was "Life as a garden. Youth is the springtime of life. We get what we put into it."

This is the last week that Camp East Brook will be open.

Clouds of gold like phantom ships,
traverse the azure sky,
A glorious tribute in farewell for the

The sun sinks slowly in the sky, suffused in amber light,
In solemn pomp the day departs and leaves the throne to night.

Stewart-Lindsay Case Is Settled By Court Opinion

Lindsay Must Turn Over Certain Bonds And Mortgages To Stewart Is Decree

In an opinion handed down by Judge Hildebrand this morning in the case of C. A. Stewart against H. W. Lindsay, the defendant, Lindsay, is directed to assign to C. A. Stewart the bonds and mortgages given to Lindsay by the purchasers of certain properties located at Bessemer, as well as rights and royalties on oil wells located on the properties. Costs are divided equally between the plaintiff and the defendant.

The case of Stewart against Lindsay is an equity suit which has been in the Lawrence county courts for some time. It grew out of the purchase of land in Bessemer, which was plotted into 88 lots, Stewart was the financial backer of the proposition, and a number of houses were erected under the direction of Lindsay, in the profits of which both were to share.

When Stewart was unable to get a satisfactory accounting of the money which he had advanced in the erection of the houses, the case got into court in the form of an equity suit in which Stewart demanded an accounting. After it had been filed by Lindsay, exceptions to it were taken by Stewart.

Considerable testimony was taken as the cost of construction of the houses, and the amount of money which had been advanced by Stewart and expended by Lindsay. The opinion by Judge Hildebrand is the final outcome of the litigation.

Sunshine Of Ages Ago

By S. S. MYERS

"Your article in last Monday's News entitled "Why is Coal Black" has raised a question in my mind. I had been taught that the light and heat contained in coal was the sunshine of ages ago stored up in the vegetable matter which decomposed forming coal. Yet you say that the Sun's rays during that period could not penetrate the dense mantle of clouds that surrounded the Earth. Now, if the sunshine was excluded from the Earth at that time how could it be stored up in the vegetable matter that formed the coal forests?"
(H. J. W. New Castle, R. F. D. No. 1)

It is evident that you have had a wrong conception of what is meant by the Sunshine of Ages Ago. The Earth's crust and its internal fires was the sunshine of ages ago. The hills, plains and mountains of the Earth are what astronomers call Frozen Sunshine.

But, to make this clear, let us go back beyond the coal forming period—back to a time "Whence the memory of man goeth not"—a time when the Earth as well as the other planets were a part of the Sun and that other, unidentified, Sun passed so close to ours that it raised a gigantic tidal wave on our Sun and pulled it so far away after it that it broke up into sections and condensed into globes forming our planetary system. The Earth, as well as the other planets, was at first a small sun in itself producing light and heat like the Sun because it was a part of it. But, no matter how much light and heat it radiated, it was surrounded in space by a temperature more than 350 degrees below zero and must eventually cool off. The smaller the planet the sooner it cooled. Mars, which is only about one half as large as the Earth, cooled and generated some kind of life long before the Earth was cool enough to support life.

So it will be seen that the Earth was originally sunshine which has condensed into a globe and undergone many transformations to reach its present condition. The crust of the Earth, with its mountains and plains and its mineral deposits were at one time a part of the Sun. The vegetable matter which turned into coal locked up more of original sunlight and heat in its atoms than the common rocks. But in the same sense the entire crust of the Earth is arrested sunshine.

The Earth has been wonderfully planned for the habitation of the human race. The materials of our dwellings in which we live, of the sky scrapers in our larger cities, of the ships that sail the oceans, of the vehicles in which we ride were at one time all a part of the Sun. Coal, lead, iron, silver, gold and all other minerals are transformed sunshine stored up in the crust of the Earth for our use. The food we eat and the water we drink, even our bodies were at one time a part of the Sun. We ought to be proud of our lineage because we are akin to the stars—we are made of the same materials that compose the Universe.

As you climb higher, you must expect to be disliked. Look at lawn grass.

BELIEVES AMUNDSEN LOST IN ARCTIC CRASH

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Aug. 20—"Captain Raold Amundsen and his three French companions in the Latham plane almost certainly crashed to their doom in the icy waters of Berents sea. The chance that they are alive is less than one in a thousand."

This statement of the probable fate of the famous Norwegian explorer who started out in search of General Nobile was made today by Professor Vladimir Vize, one of the foremost Russian Polar explorers, who was in charge of the scientific staff abroad The Soviet Artic Ship Maligin, which was forced to abandon the search and return to Archangel.

Professor Vize revealed that the Maligin in its search for Amundsen explored an area far greater than Meagre radio reports from the Arctic indicated. The ship, he said, combed an area of 1,500 miles along the fringe of the solid ice barrier extending east from the south of Spitzbergen beyond Hope Island and then northward to a line east of Northeast Land.

From various points along this route, parts of which were covered two and three times, Michael S. Babushkin, aviator abroad the Maligin, made fifteen flights, on one of which he lost all trace of the ship for five days.

"The one positive result of our unsuccessful expedition," said Professor Vize, "was to establish the fact that Amundsen either dropped into the sea or else succeeded in flying so far north that he landed on comparatively solid ice. The indications are that the Latham plane did not remain in the air long enough to get beyond the belt of our explorations.

"On the chance that Amundsen did get further north than Bear Island, the Arctic ship Sedov is now combing the region west of Franz Josef land along the both parallel because the drift of the ice floes in summer is toward Franz Josef land from the north tip of Spitzbergen.

"If the Allesandrini group from the dirigible Italia is alive, it also has probably been carried in this direction."

Pennsy Awards Safety Banners

Delaware, Renovo And Indianapolis Divisions Receive Honors This Year

In the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's 1928 safety campaign among employes, gold banner for the best results during the second quarter of the year have been awarded to the Delaware division, Renovo division, Indianapolis division and the Juniata shop.

Announcement to this effect is made today in the Pennsylvania News, the employes' newspaper. Under the rules governing the safety contest, gold banners are awarded quarterly to the division in each of the three operating regions of the system, and to the shop in the Altoona works which has the lowest number of casualties to employes on duty per million man-hours. The division in each region and the shop in the Altoona works which makes the greatest reduction in casualties to employes on duty, receive a silver metal. The competition is among 38 divisions and five shops.

Renovo division, winner of the gold banner in the central region, had 1.6 casualties per million man-hours, the smallest number on the system for the second quarter. The Toledo division, winner of the silver banner in the western region, scored a reduction of 75.5 per cent in casualties compared with the corresponding period in 1927, which was the largest decrease on the system. The number of injuries per million man-hours for the entire system was 10.7, during the second quarter, as against 11.9 for the first quarter. The company's goal in its 1928 campaign is the reduction of employe accidents to not more ten per million man-hours by the end of the year.

Girls Say Clubs Favor Boys; Start Own Organization

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 20.—Claiming that the Waynesburg civic clubs have discriminated against the girls of the town, Mildred Hoover and Mary Churney, high school girls, have started a movement to organize a troop of Girl Scouts here.

They point out in a petition which they have circulated that the only recreation center in the town is devoted solely to the use of the boys. They also mention the fact that they are neglected when it comes to being guests of local civic clubs.

The boys are annual guests of civic clubs while their sisters are left to provide for their own amusement, the girls declared.

Traffic Regulations Should Be Studied

Both City And State Rules Should Be Known By Auto Drivers

Motorists will find it exceedingly profitable to acquire the latest edition of the traffic regulation both of the state of Pennsylvania and the city of New Castle and review them thoroughly, states Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary-manager of the New Castle Motor club. With motor club legislation becoming more and more important each year on the dockets of both state and municipal law making bodies, the individual driver will probably find several important modifications of the motor code with which he is unfamiliar, Mr. Hanlon believes.

"The most effective way of checking up on one's knowledge of the traffic laws under which one drives is to get a copy of the regulations and study them," says Mr. Hanlon.

"Traffic regulations change. They become significant times of news, and as a result, get prominent space in the newspapers. Even so, it happens that they are missed by some car owners. As a result, a daily street user may be unaware of one of the most vital features of the traffic law.

"The motorists who does not know the law is really without excuse for his ignorance. States and cities spent large sums of money to print large editions of their codes every time significant changes are made. They try to make these copies available to every driver within their jurisdiction. The thoughtful motorists will get his copy and study it."

Mercer County Jail Cells House Hundred Prisoners Daily

(International News Service)

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 20.—The county jail is doing double service. Built to accommodate 50 prisoners, it has for the past six months housed an average of 100 prisoners daily, despite releases and workhouse departures. The solution of the problem confronting the county officials is simple—a larger jail, according to Sheriff D. K. Callahan.

National Miners Plan Convention For Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20. — Claiming that delegates from practically every mine in district 5 will attend the National Miners Convention here on September 9 in an attempt to build a new miners union, the "save-the-union" faction of the United Mine Workers of America carried their work to Bellaire, O., to make final arrangements there with coal mine representatives.

At the conference here with representatives from district No. 5, the committee on arrangements for the proposed National Convention decided that where miners had returned to work, dues will be paid directly to the committee.

Thomas Meyerscough, chairman of the conference, although refusing to make public the actual organizational details, stated that the "save-the union" leaders were optimistic over reports from unorganized fields. He said that more than 100 locals are already established in Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama.

Ford Says Tires Can Be Made From Weeds, Alcohol Used As Fuel

(International News Service)

SUDBURY, Mass., Aug. 20.—Automobile tires made out of common roadside weeds and motor cars fueled with alcohol was the prediction of Henry Ford, made before leaving to spend this week-end with his son, Edsel, at Bar Harbor, Maine.

Thomas Edison, the automobile magnate said had discovered that sort of rubber can be made from every weed that grows. Even the milkweed contains some rubber. Most success has been obtained with oleander.

"There seems to be no question," said Mr. Ford, "that Mr. Edison will son discover a substitute which will make the United States entirely independent of foreign rubber plantations."

Ford Not Worried

The Detroit manufacturer let it be known that he was not worried over the supply of fuel for motor. Alcohol," he said, "will run cars as well as gasoline, and alcohol can be produced from grain."

Mr. Ford expressed the belief that the "worst thing that could happen to this country would be to step backward in our fight against liquor." He was sure that Herbert Hoover stood for keeping the 18th amendment as it is and that was the reason he was for him. Everything is keyed up to the law now, he added. Production has been speeded up by conditions. Prosperity and production go hand in hand. If men were slowed up by alcohol production would slow up and prosperity would cease. That was the Ford view. He would turn the army and navy out to enforce prohibition, if necessary.

Incidentally, he said he had adopted a new system of eating. His new system is to keep all classes of food separate and eat them separately.

Mr. Ford denied that he said that "history was bunk." He meant, he said, that written history was colored by writers in spite of themselves in a desire to bring out a point.

Animals Trapped In Tar Highway

Sparrows, Garter Snakes And A Turtle Struggle In Tar Road

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 20.—Trapped in the new tar used to patch the road workmen, who drive into Grove City over the Grove City-Mercer highway, report finding small animals and birds, early Sunday morning.

Workmen have been working upon the highway repairing the holes worn in it with fresh tar and gravel. Small animals in their nocturnal wanderings stepped into the sticky trap. Alarmed at the passing cars their struggles only served to further snare them until they become a modern version of "Brer Rabbit and the Tar-Baby." Several rabbits, garter snakes, English sparrows and even a small turtle were seen struggling in the tar.

Hoover Relatives Planning Visit To West Branch

One-Fourth Of Population Of Legrand, Iowa, Are Related To Herbert Hoover

(International News Service)

LEGRAND, Ia., Aug. 20.— One fourth of the population of this town are blood relatives of Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for President. All that are able to travel will be at West Branch next Tuesday to welcome their distinguished relative. They will leave here on next Monday by automobile and horse drawn vehicles for the Cedar County village.

Davis Hoover is the head of the Hoover clan here. He came here from West Branch in 1870, because he 'did not believe the town would ever amount to much."

"But had I known Herbie was going to be nominated for President and West Branch was to receive such publicity, I would have stayed there," Uncle Davis chortled today, as he brushed up his old buggy in preparation for the thirty-mile trek to West Branch.

Temperature Down Weather Man Says

Although the thermometer once hit 92 degrees, the average high temperature of the week of August 12 was considerably lower than that of the preceeding week, a report of the weather station at the City of New Castle Water company reveals. During the week, only .02 inches of rain fell.

The average high temperature for the week was 86.7 degrees, while the average low was 57.6. Only one day was clear and the rest were partly cloudy.

Driver Is Held In Auto Death

BEAVER FALLS, Aug. 20.—Finding that Joseph Lachinsky, driving, was negligent to some extent in the accident which caused the death of Lester W. Shaffer, July 30 in an automobile crash on the Eastvale road a coroner's jury recommended that he be held for further investigation by the district attorney's office.

Lachinsky has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death and furnished bond of $5,000 for court.

Post Cards From Europe

by William Ivy

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The Italian police recently discovered at the charming Riviera resort of San Remo that a band of crooks had succeeded in juggling with the roulette wheel and were prepared to get away with some of the casino's hard-earned millions.

With one of the croupiers as their accomplice, they had inserted a magnet under one of the numbers in the whirling disk, and had introduced an iron core into the ivory ball. Naturally the ball would not fall invariably into the magnetized slot, but the chances of that particular number, and of the neighboring numbers, were more than tripled.

The plot was discovered before any damage had been done.

This incident recalls that many years ago at Monte Carlo an experienced croupier demonstrated that he could toss the ivory ball into any desired sector of the wheel—a sector consisting of one quarter of the circumference of the disk, and therefore containing nine numbers. By having a confederate bet on all the nine numbers in the sector chosen, quick and sure profits would be assured.

The trick appears almost impossible, because the disk whirls in one direction, while the ball must be thrown in the opposite direction. Nevertheless the demonstration was said to be so convincing that thereafter the casino ruled that the disk must be turned by one croupier, while another throws the ball.

Probably all chance of fraud is eliminated from roulette as now played at Monte Carlo, but a large fraction of the public still believes that the croupiers are able to control the ball to a considerable extent.

This conviction, however, does not discourage them from continuing to hope that they can beat the game, and more money rolls over the green tables today than ever before

FINE PROGRESS SEEN ON PLANS FOR NEW CHURCH

Plans for the erection of a new edifice for the congregation of the First United Presbyterian church of this city are complete and it is likely that estimates for the work will be asked for within a week, announced J. Clyde Gilfillan, a member of the church's board of elders, before the members of the church yesterday.

All of the details with regard to the purchase of the land on which the new structure will be erected will probably be closed about the latter part of the present week, Mr. Gilfillan continued.

The old structure of the United Presbyterian congregation was destroyed by fire on last New Year's eve. Since that time, the congregation has been conducting regular services each Sunday in the auditorium and rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association building on the diamond.

Women's Hoover Club Gaining In Numbers

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20.—Formation of women's Hoover clubs in every county of Pennsylvania is rapidly going on, "Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, president of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania, Inc., reported to the Women's Division of the National Republican Campaign headquarters today.

One of the outstanding successes of the work of this organization in the 1924 campaign is to be repeated, Mrs. Lorimer stated. This was a "Keep Coolidge Inn," a cafeteria which was operated for two weeks, and at which luncheon was served and was followed by addresses by Republican speakers. The interest which this aroused among the women taxed the capacity of the inn. The dates arranged for the cafeteria for the present campaign for Hoover and Curtis, Mrs. Lorimer announced, have been set for October 22 to November 3rd.

Concerning conditions throughout Pennsylvania, Mrs. Lorimer reported: "I find the interest among women is good. They are enthusiastic about these clubs. There is a good spirit of cooperation." Meetings concerning the registration of every woman voter in the various districts are being held, and it is indicated that nothing will be overlooked to get the women's vote.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Hall of Fame is, ironically, one of the least popular of New York's sights. Situated far from the crossroads of the world, out on the campus of New York university, comparatively few tourists and sightseers ever go there. Worse, few of the persons who do go through the hall are able to identity by reputation more than a minority of the notables whose busts are there.

The hall has a worker whose job is one of the oddest in New York, the city of odd positions. He spends all his working days dusting off busts of the great.

Another one of New York's oddest jobs is that held by a man who sits in a tower overlooking the great plant of the electric power company constantly observing smoke coming from the great chimneys of the plant. Like the men who relieve his vigil at regular intervals, he is able to tell by the color and texture of the smoke whether the great boilers are functioning properly.

The secretary of one of New York's biggest businessmen who is frequently mentioned by the success-story writers as an outstanding example of a self-made man, who pulled himself up by his bootstraps and all that sort of thing, told me how his boss happened to get the job that eventually made him wealthy and famous. He was a lifeguard at a resort and had the luck to save the life of an industrial magnate who was led by gratitude to give the young man a good job in his company offices.

The ex-lifeguard proved unfit for the job and all others he was tried in, but the magnate refused to fire him. There came a time when the magnate needed a "dummy" to represent him in a deal, and he chose the ex-lifeguard. The latter, because of ignorance and forgetfulness of his orders, did things which miraculously turned out to be richly profitable for the company. Another concern, not knowing the circumstances, thought the ex-lifeguard was a business wonder and hired him away. Having held jobs in so many departments of his former employer's business that he was in full possession of many trade secrets, the magnate he rescued had to hire him back at a huge salary.

He married the boss' niece and she pushed him in business and society through her social and family connections. In time he got such a reputation that he needed nothing else to get the presidency of the great corporation when his benefactor died.

Most of the waiters in the great hotels and famous restaurants are cosmopolites. They have served in England, Italy, France, Egypt and all the way around the world, and have wide world acquaintanceships. Most of them speak several languages. Few of them are past middle-age, for invariably the waiters of this select class are able to retire on their savings when they reach 50 or 55, and live the lives of retired gentlemen.

Even before the war New York was preferred over all other metropolises, even Paris, by famous waiters and chefs. Now despite prohibition berths in the exclusive dining-rooms here are still much sought by the elite of the profession.

More than one of these waiters has refused a position as head-waiter although that post carries with it many honors and privileges, in order to continue to personally serve and keep acquainted with the great and near great. One prides himself on having served five presidents of the United States and a king. Another, once a European nobleman worth a million who lost his fortune at Monte Carlo and in the London stock market, is again a man of considerable wealth, because of fortunate speculations made on the advice of men he serves here.

SAYS IT MADE A WONDERFUL CHANGE IN HIM

Ten Herbs Benefited Kidneys, Nerves And Bowels, And Cleansed System.

"Three bottles of Ten Herbs certainly made a wonderful change in me," was the statement of Mr. Martin Joyce, 306 Lamasco Avenue, Beachview, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal compound to crowds of people.

"My worst trouble seemed to be my kidneys," continued Mr. Joyce, who is a plasterer. I had to arise three or four times a night, and had severe pains across the back. In the morning I would be so stiff I could hardly get out of bed. My bowels were irregular, and I was continually taking salts or pills. I became so nervous that I could not sleep at night. I must have been bilious, for if I sat down to read a newspaper I would fall asleep.

"Ten Herbs made me feel like a new man. My kidneys are working the way they should, as the pains have left my back and I do not have to get up at night any more. My nerves have become quiet, and I sleep the night through. My bowels are regular, and billiousness has left me. Food has a better taste. Ten Herbs seems to have given my whole system a thorough cleansing, with the result that I feel better and stronger in every respect. Your medicine helped me so much that I intend to give it to my nineteen-year-old son. He needs a good tonic, and I am sure that your preparation is just what his system needs. I shall always be glad to recommend Ten Herbs."

Try Ten Herbs and feel the way it relieves your burdened, gassy, painful, sick stomach. Let it awaken and invigorate your sluggish liver, and thus relieve headaches, dizziness, and attacks of billousness; let it regulate your bowels; let it tone up your kidneys and relieve the soreness and stiffness in your back and limbs, and put an end to night-rising. Ten Herbs has helped many in this section and why not you?

Star Woman Offender Refuses To Leave Center County Jail

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Center county jail has a female guest. She is Mrs. Annie Sokolosky, of Rush township, said to be the county's star female offender, who is in jail without regular commitment. Although her time was up two months ago, she continues to "stick around."

Police said Annie has been in jail more than eight times and most of her imprisonments have been for liquor law violations. She was released from her last sentence recently and refused help by the poor department, camping on Judge Fleming's front porch. She was picked up by authorities and taken to jail without commitment. Authorities are puzzled over what to do with her.

Air Mail Route From Pittsburgh East Is Planned

Pittsburgh Leaders Urging Route, And Washington Officials Seem To Favor It

TIDEWATER ROUTE SEEN AS RESULT

Would Place This District Within Few Hours Of Southern Cities

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—With a new airmail link to Washington, D. C., from Pittsburgh in the offing, local business and industrial interests are today being pressed to lend their endorsement of the proposed air line in order to assure the establishment of the mail route.

The proposal for the new route which would extend from Cleveland here it would join the Transcontinental air route to Youngstown to Pittsburgh, thence to Baltimore and Washington, has been submitted to officials of the Washington post office department by representatives from the four cities concerned.

Washington post office officials, it is understood, have viewed the proposition favorably and with encouragement from Pittsburgh business and industrial backing, the proposed air route will become a reality. According to Col. Harry C. Fry, head of the committee which represented Pittsburgh in presenting the proposal to Washington authorities, Cleveland, Baltimore and Youngstown business men will be ready to present their endorsement of the route by the middle of the week.

Urges Action

Col. Fry, in announcing the action of the committee in submitting the proposal, urged that Pittsburgh business and industrial leaders back the proposition in order to assure the city a place in this new link.

The new route, according to Col. Fry, would place Pittsburgh on a direct route from tidewater at Baltimore to the west. Through air route connections at Baltimore, Pittsburgh would be placed only a few hours from Atlanta, Savannah and cities in the southeast.

Mail time between New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh would be greatly shortened, Fry said.

Only the endorsement of Pittsburgh's public sentiment is necessary, Fry said. The latter part of the week, a committee of Pittsburghers will confer with Postmaster Harry S. New and it is believed that if the outcome of the conference is successful, the new air route will start almost immediately.

Duelling Seems Done; Gone Dirk And Gun

The Hypochondria Bemoans Those Good Old Days Of Blood Letting

Of late the practice of the code duello in the United States has fallen off. No longer is it in accordance with the best etiquette, not even below the Mason and Dixon line, where tempers and the will to act, runs decidedly higher than in these phlegmatic northern states.

There was a time not many decades ago when the proper handling of the derringer or the rapier and the left handed dirk were a distinct social asset, when one man killed another on the field of honor with as much ease as he filled the dance program of his lady fair.

But an era of business the coming of the machine area has changed all that. If one were to punch a pitheanthropus erectus on the nose one would not get a card in return, rather the scene would emerge into a lusty brawl and much blood would be shed by both parties.

Consider then the dignity and aplomb of the dirk and derringer. The insulted would send the insultee his seconds. In turn the insulted seconds would be sent to see the seconds of the insultee. Together they would arrange the meeting, requisition wise physicatos to attend to the wounded and name the hour immediately after dawn, preferably in a rose garden.

Inverness capes and silk hats were the accredited costumes. They would be thrown off 30 paces apart, the contestants would stand. At the drop of the handkerchief they would take pot shots at each other. If one missed he stood, waitng for his opponent to shoot him down, for the duelling derringer contains but one shot. Or, if swords were the prefererd weapons the fight would start and continue until one was wounded, even the slightest prick would stop the proceedings. Blood had been let and honor was assuaged.

In viewing the present American scene particularly at the time of a political contest it seems to the present subscriber that in the United States the code duello is needed. Honor cries for it.

Instead of blackguarding each other through public prints how much nicer it would be for Senator Blotz and Representative Smaltz to have at each other on the White House lawn.

The way for two gentlemen to settle a difference of opinion is privately. For centuries the code duello satisfied the most snooty and toney of Europe's nobles. That public sentiment is against it in North America is lamentable but to return to it would brighten the declining years of many a cynic as well as making ballyhooers a trifle more cautious about the public utterances.

Young-Lynch Solve Youngstown Crime

Fast Work Of Local Police Officers Apprehends Men Wanted For Burglary

Activity of Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch of the New Castle police force in conjunction with Detective Thomas Bowser of the Youngstown police force, is responsible for the unraveling of the mystery surrounding one of the biggest and boldest robberies that has occurred in Youngstown in some time.

On Sunday through the efforts of these three officers, two men were arrested on suspicion of being connected with the robbery, which occurred June 16 at the Rosenbaum Store in Youngstown, and also the recovery of a small portion of the clothing, 58 fine suits, taken in the robbery by a gang of daredevil robbers.

Good Tip.

On a tip that was good, these officers hurried to the home of Ed Brophy on Produce street about one o'clock Sunday afternoon. They arrived just in time. For there was Brophy, John Hilton and a woman loading some of the stolen suits into a Ford coupe on Kurtz street, preparatory to taking them to some other location. Three suits were recovered at this time and the two men arrested. A fourth suit was recovered since, it having been sold to a local man for $10. The suits stolen were valued at from $40 to $55 and the officers on the job find that quite a number were disposed of here at about $10. It is expected that others will be recovered.

Brophy and Hilton deny their connection with the robbery, but the police are holding them pending a further investigation, which is going on today and will be continued until the entire thing is cleared up.

It has not been definitely established as to their connection with the robbery but indications are that the clothing was brought here, at least a part of it, for the purpose of disposing of it to the best advantage.

The leader of the gang is known, the police state, and hopes are entertained of making further arrests here and elsewhere. Indications are that it was the same gang that robbed the Rosenbaum store and the Norman jewelry store of this city.

Donnelly Gets Special Notice

In the current issue of The Insurance Field published in Louisville, Ky. and known as the outstanding insurance publication of the country, M. J. Donnelly of this city, representative of the Edward A. Woods Company agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, is given special notice together with his picture. According to the article Donnelly is known as the agency's "premier life underwriter". On August 4, he had attained the distinction, it states, of being the company's first field representative to qualify for the Million Dollar Corps. On that date he had a paid volumn of $1,025,758 with premium deposits of $38,321 covering 117 and one-sixth cases. This is a record that many would be glad to attain in four years and others in ten years according to the item. He did it in seven months.

Former Resident Still Boosting For New Castle

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale and daughter, Winifred, who have been residing for the past few months in Tarentum, are in the city at the present time visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kegarise of Euclid avenue.

It has been almost three months since Mr. Hale was in the city last, and during that time, he declares that a certain change has come over the city. He is always anxious to get back here, and wants to say "hello" to his many friends within the bounds of New Castle.

Mr. Hale and his wife, accompanied by Mrs. Kegarise and son, Bob, just returned last week from a two weeks' stay at Atlantic City, where they enjoyed the time bathing, boating and taking in other things of importance there.

Yesterday afternoon, Kegarise took his friend for a nice flying jaunt over the city and surrounding territory and the latter enjoyed it tremendously.

Asked as to how he liked this city after being away for some time, Hale said: "If anyone doesn't like New Castle at the present time, he should get out of here and stay away for three months. Then come back and see how you feel toward the city. You would want for no other place but New Castle then."

Tire Company Loses In Sunday Blaze

Over $2,000 in damage was done to the building and stock of the S. and M. Tire company of 19 South Jefferson street, when fire of undetermined origin threatened the whole block at 15:15 Sunday morning.

By the efforts of New Castle Fire campanies Numbers 1, 2 and 6, along with the aerial truck from the Central Fire department, succeeded, after much effort, in confining the flames to the store room proper.

The fire is thought to have started in a pile of rubbish which was on the floor in the center of the store room. At 1:45 Sunday morning, the three companies were back at their respective fire houses.

Stomach and Kidney Troubles Yield to Amazing Powers of Konjola; Highly Indorses New Remedy.

MRS. LAURA EMERY

That Konjola is a medicine of real merit has been conclusively proven by the countless numbers of voluntary testimonials from people of this city and nearby towns who have been relieved of various health troubles through the use of this medicine. Hundreds of testimonials have been received by the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of Konjola. One of the latest to indorse Konjola is Mrs. Laura Emery, 1116 Croton avenue, New Castle, who made the following statement:

"Konjola has proven itself to be a medicine of exceptional merit and value in my case", said Mrs. Emery, "It has restored my health and now I am going to indorse it every chance I get.

"My stomach was always bothering me and I don't believe I had eaten a meal in a long time without suffering intense misery afterward. Food always formed a heavy lump in the pit of my stomach that was very uncomfortable. Then it would ferment and cause quantities of gas to form that bloated me so much I had a hard time breathing. Due to the disordered condition of my kidneys I was subject to severe pains in the small of my back that made it impossible for me to bend over. My bladder acted so frequently that my sleep was always being disturbed. I really did not think that I would be able to stand such suffering much longer. Quite often attacks of biliousness often came over me and certainly made matters worse. Headaches and dizzy spells also seemed a part of my life. You can see that I was in a terrible shape.

"But all that is ended now and I am once more in the best of health. I owe it all to Konjola and think that every sufferer should give this medicine a trial and I am sure they would gain the same relief that I did. My stomach is in perfect condition and I am eating whatever is placed before me without suffering from one of the former ugly symptoms. The gas bloating, fermentation and pains are all ended. Konjola did this for me in a very few days and yet I feel the relief is permanent. My kidneys are also much stronger and never cause me to rise during the night. My back is free of pains and I can get around and do whatever I please without suffering the least bit. The spells of billousness vanished some time ago and have never returned. Konjola also ended the dizzy attacks and headaches. In every way I have been benefited".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Konjola contains juices from 22 natural plants—more than other medicines. It is a new compound that works with the sufferer's own food, restoring more healthy action to the important organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and produces new energy and glorious health in a natural way, thru the whole inner-system.

They secured entrance by means of cutting out a light of glass in a second floor window, which they reached over the first floor roof of the place. Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch investigated and believe the theft to have been the work of boys.

Nationalists In China Kill Many Thousand In Year

Twenty-Six Thousand Are Ruthlessly Killed By Nationalists In Course Of Year

FEDERATION ISSUES HEATED WARNING

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—Twenty-six thousand Chinese communists have been executed by the Nationalists in the past year, according to a report from the Chinese Federation of Labor received today by the Red International of trade unions. The Chinese laborites asked for assistance in the fight against the Kuomintang.

The report declared that "a total of 318,000 Chinese workers and civilian peasants slaughtered during the period covered by the report without cause other than that they passively resented the treacheries of the Chinese generals."

About 36,000 of those beheaded were trade union members. Almost half of the total membership of the Chinese communist party were killed in what is described as "a ruthless hunt for red heads."

The federation warned against an impending reapprochment of the new national government and "the imperialistic United States". It declared that "political and commercial penetration by the United States will eventually turn China into a vassal colony "of the most powerful nation in the world today—America."

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

The gentleman didn't seem to have a sprained ankle, neither did he have the tell tale list to port of the victim of neuritis. So that the reason for his carrying his bottle of Alcorub with him was not exactly plain.

Unless one considered the condition in which he was navigating up Washington street Saturday night. Apparently he had been imbiding some of the contents of that bottle or a similar one.

Now it was a laughable sight to a lot of the boys. A drunk is always good for a laugh. But at the same time I couldn't help thinking that perhaps some youngster needed a pair of shoes, or some little girl didn't have a dress fit to go to Sunday school yesterday morning, and that perhaps that Alcorub might have paid for part of them.

Not that this is an attempt at moralizing. It isn't. But I was just wondering.

The usual plaint of the lad who has never travelled much farther than the western border of the state is that "New Castle is a heck of a town." You know the chorus, the verse merely changes a bit now and then.

But the chap who has seen a lot of them is usually inclined towards a different view. And it's my observation that a lot of the men who come to New Castle for the various utility companies, like to come back after they have left.

Harry Lampe is visiting New Castle. Harry was with the Bell Telephone company here, but was transferred to Wilkes-Barre to a bigger job. But does he go to Yellowstone or Atlantic City or Bankruptcy Beach for his vacation? He does not. He comes back to New Castle.

"I've lived in a lot of towns," said Harry. "Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Philadelphia and some more, but New Castle stacks up as the ideal city in my mind. The folks are friendly, and there is an atmosphere here that many towns lack."

Mack Gilliland is still sad about it. Where he expected fulsome praise and a round of applause he drew nothing more than insoucience. It happened at Conneaut Lake. On the golf course. Mack spanked one down the fairway for something close to 300 yards. Straight and hard and fast. A pretty drive, a little better than usual, and Mack spanks some dandies.

As they approached the ball for the second shot Mack remarked to the caddie. "Does the average golfer get a drive that long. Isn't that rather a long ball?"

To which the young bag toter replied, "Oh you're allowed to hit them as far as you want."

Clarence Davis, the foreman of the Composing Room is back after a loop around Pennsylvania roads down east. After a week's travelling, Davis is willing to agree that the Keystone state has roads that are a pleasure to drive.

And about Wednesday of this week Jake Rentz is expected to be back in the harness. Jake took a cumulative vacation this year and seems to have seen everything between here and Pasadena, Cal.

Occasions like this are always good for a chuckle. After getting back from the old vacation a friend of mine invited me to go along to Banff, Canada, for a big game hunting trip. Pardon me while I snicker down the cuff. He said nothing about expense money and after doing a couple of weeks' vacation, the bank rool has an attack of lethargy.

CROP INSURANCE

Why not take the whole idea of farm relief out of politics and turn it over to the insurance men? One of the great risks of farming is the weather risk. Insurance companies insure circuses and all sorts of outdoor shows against the weather. They can insure crops. Insurance, being an application of the law of average, is applicable to the farmers' problems.

YOUR AMILITY

A Chicago preacher says when a man has marked ability he owes the use of his talent to all the rest of the people. He shouldn't seek to patent it or get a copyright on it. The preacher may be right about his idea of duty, but there is more to be said than that. The fact is the maximum amount of happiness for the individual can only come when he uses whatever ability he has in such a way as to be of the greatest service to the greatest possible number.

CAN'T BE TOO SURE

Raskob, a figure of national prominence, now chairman of the Democratic National committee, says he is out to "free the nation from the curse of prohibition." Mr. Raskob is undoubtedly sincere. His record is such as to inspire confidence in his ability and character. But there are just as good and sincere men who do not think prohibition is a curse. They think intoxicating liquor, handled in any manner, under any form of government, is a curse. Who is right?

Intelligent men and women, in this day of more widely distributed education, are not sure about anything. They have a right to think what they please, and if they have courage they will act in accordance with their best thought. But we must not be sure about things until we have heard and examined all sides and all possible evidence. Above all, public problems in America need a thoughtful approach.

HENPECKED

A British educator says henpecked husbands live longer than other husbands. They live a more sheltered life. Probably they do—but a life that is too sheltered is not worth living at all. And most men who are henpecked would rather have more real storm and less shelter.

BAD DOGS

Owners of dangerous dogs ought to be committed to jail after the first bite. Too many dogs do not get enough food and water—especially water—and become unreliable in their habits. It is a serious matter to be the owner of a dog which shows dangerous tendencies. So-called one-man dogs need watching and their owners bear a real responsibility.

Rev. McAllister Greeted Sunday By Large Audiences

First Baptist Church Filled To Capacity To Hear Former Pastor

Two great audiences which filled the large auditorium and overflowed in the Sunday school room and balconies were present Sunday in the First Baptist church of this city to hear Rev. Frederick B. McAllister, a former pastor now of the First Baptist church at Royal Oak, Mich.

Rev. McAllister delivered most eloquent and heart searching messages at both the morning and evening services.

At the morning service Rev. McAllister spoke on "The Overflow of Personality." He read the beautiful story of Christ's resurrection as recorded in Luke's gospel taking for his text "Then Went in Also that Other Disciples." Rev. McAllister stressed the vital importance of exerting a good influence to others. He quoted that "Influence is the Effluence of Affluence."

At the evening service Rev. McAllister spoke from the text "By the Grace of God I am What I Am." Bothe sermons left a lasting impression on the large congregation present.

At the close of the services Rev. McAllister was greeted by many of his former members and friends throughout the city. He will be in charge of the mid-week prayer on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. McAllister is also the guest of friends in this city.

IS ACCUSED OF HITTING WOMAN

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—All of the principals — Will Morrissey, his wife Midgie Miller, both stage actors, and Tom Mix, film cowboy—admitted today that there had been a "misunderstanding" at a party at the home of George Beban.

As a result Morrissey and his wife were somewhat bruised. Both of them went to the Venice police station for medical treatment. After bandages and arnica were applied police placed them under arrest on a charge of being intoxicated.

Morrissey charged that Mix "socked" him in the eye after an exchange of "pleasantries" and his wife said that when she went to the aid of her husband she got a similar blow.

Mix accused Morrissey of being abusive all evening and said he merely shoved him away at first.

"When he removed his coat, however, "explained Mix, "I did hit him several times. I didn't hit any woman, although I did shake one off when she grabbed me from behind."

Both Morrissey and Mix claimed they scored knockdowns.

Residents Petition Constable To Stop Roadside Neckers

Constable Rees To Put Quietus Upon Lovesick Couples In Neshannock Township

Petting and necking parties in the Neshannock township district have become so annoying to the residents of that section of the county, situated just north of the city, that a determined effort is being made by the people living and owning property in that district, to rid itself of this very undesirable form of diversion on the part of so many motorists.

A petition signed by the best citizens of the district has been presented to W. G. Rees, constable in the township, asking him to do all within his power to put a stop to that abnoxious form of amusement indulged in by so many motorists in that part of the county.

Constable Rees announces that he is prepared to meet the demand of the people to rid the district of that type of people and he will arrest all persons caught in the district, holding necking or petting parties at the side of the highways, in the fields or any place in his bailwick.

The number of motorists who have been making this place the mecca of their annoying tactics will find themselves in trouble if found by Constable Rees and will face arrest and fines.

Founded in 1803.

Westfield church was founded in 1803 and was the result of Rev. Badger's, a pioneer preacher, preaching. A petition was sent to the Presbytery of Erie asking that body to send more preachers into this section of the country. Consequently several ministers were commissioned by the presbytery to travel through this new settlement as itinerant preachers.

As a result two tracts of ground were donated by Walter Clarke and Charles Clarke for the site of a church and burying ground. An appropriate bronze tablet has recently been placed in the church and a granite marker in the cemetery to perpetuate the memory of these two men who made this original gift.

A commission consisting of Rev. Thomas E. Hughes, Rev. William Wick and others, duly organized the Westfield church. There were thirty-two charter members representing thirteen families.

No one will probably ever know exactly why the church was given the name of "Westfield." Tradition has it that when Walter Clarke was asked where the location of the cemetery should be he replied "Over in the west field."

Much of the credit for the strength of the Westfield of today is due to the seven men of God who have been called to the Westfield of yesterday.

Seven Pastors.

The first pastor, Rev. Nicholas Pittinger was called to serve the Westfield church in 1804 and served until 1809. He was a man of sterling character and pronounced convictions. He served the Westfield and Poland Presbyterian churches jointly at a salary of four hundred dollars per year.

Rev. James Wright was called to the two churches in 1816 and served until 1842. At that time the membership of the two congregations was 166. The membership of the two churches grew rapidly and in 1831 Rev. Wright resigned the Poland charge to give his undivided attention to Westfield. Rev. Wright died in 1843 and was buried in the Westfield cemetery.

After the death of Rev. Wright the church was without a pastor for three years. Rev. Thomas Scott was called in 1857 and was pastor until 1860.

In 1861 Rev. William M. Taylor, D. D., was called to the pastorate and served for more than forty-two years, being his only pastorate. Dr. Taylor has been affectionately described as Westfield's "Grand Old Man". He was a devout Christian, an earnest preacher, a deep thinker and a most faithful and well beloved pastor and friend.

Rev. Albert J. McCartney, D. D., assumed the pastorate in 1903 and served until 1907. He was ordained and installed as the sixth pastor of Westfield church.

Mr. McCartney is now pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Santa Monica, Cal.

Rev. Porter Follows.

Rev. R. E. Porter followed the pastorate of Rev. McCartney and served the church until 1924 when he resigned to become the pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Gallion, O., where he is now located.

The present pastor, Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, preached his first sermon at Westfield, February 10, 1924, two weeks after Rev. Porter had closed his very successful pastorate.

Mr. Haverfield then a senior in the Western Theological Seminary of Pittsburgh was called to become the pastor of Westfield church upon his graduation. He was ordained and installed September 9, 1924.

The total membership of the church has reached 319, the largest enrollment for several years.

Westfield church is perhaps the most progressive rural church in Lawrence county and has sent out more ordained ministers and lay workers probably than any other church located in the country districts. Twelve ministers and four lay workers have gone out from this small congregation.

You can tell an unfashionable resort. The guests don't make fun of one another.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Story Of Our War With Spain
Hobson Sinks The "Merrimac" (Part One)

BY THE AFTERNOON OF JUNE 2, 1898, THE COLLIER "MERRIMAC", WHICH LIEUT. HOBSON PLANNED TO SINK IN THE NARROW ENTRANCE OF SANTIAGO BAY, HAD BEEN MADE READY FOR THE DESPERATE ENTERPRISE. TEN 80-POUND CHARGES OF EXPLOSIVES WERE PLACED IN POSITION ON HER PORT SIDE BELOW THE WATER-LINE.

THE START WAS MADE AT THREE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING OF JUNE 3RD. LIEUT. HOBSON SAID GOOD-BYE TO NAVAL CADET POWELL, WHO WITH A LAUNCH FROM THE "NEW YORK" WAS TO FOLLOW THE "MERRIMAC" AS FAR AS THE HARBOR MOUTH AND WAIT OUTSIDE TO PICK UP HOBSON'S PARTY AFTER THE SINKING OF THE COLLIER HAD BEEN ACCOMPLISHED.

FROM THE SHIPS OF THE AMERICAN FLEET ALL EYES WATCHED THE "MERRIMAC" AS SHE STEAMED TOWARD SANTIAGO, AND FOLLOWED HER UNTIL SHE WAS LOST TO VIEW IN THE HAZE AND DARKNESS.

ABOARD THE COLLIER EACH OF THE EIGHT VOLUNTEERS STOOD READY AT HIS APPOINTED STATION. IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT WHEN THE "MERRIMAC" REACHED THE SPOT WHERE SHE WAS TO BE SUNK, AT THE SIGNAL, THE ENGINES WERE TO BE STOPPED, THE ANCHORS DROPPED, THE SEA-VALVES OPENED, THE EXPLOSIVES SET OFF AND THE LIFE-BOAT (THEIR ONLY HOPE OF ESCAPE) CAST LOOSE.

DATTO AND CARPENTIER FIGHT TONIGHT

Featherweights In Shape For Fast Bout

Datto Is Reputed As One Of Ring's Best Punchers, While Carpentier Can Box, Hit And Is Cunning; Rio And Sunday To Settle Issue In Semi-Final; Expect Flock Of Blows When Belmont And Hanlon Clash; Harris Battles M'Carthy And Johnny Russell Will Clash With Elmo The Mighty

FISTIC fandom of the tri-state region will flock to Jolly Bowl tonight to see Johnny Datto, the lethal Filipino, swap punches with U. S. Carpentier, Pittsburgh rapier, in a 10-round bout, and four other bouts in which fistic performers who have already made good showings here and elsewhere will strut their wares.

Datto is coming to the Jolly Bowl after a big run of success in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit and other cities, while Carpentier has outclassed the rest of the tri-state featherweights and hopes to put a sudden quietus to the rapid rise of the Oriental, who is traveling in the wake of the late Filipino star, Villa.

Datto and Carpentier arrived here yesterday and were in the best of shape, and at three o'clock this afternoon will weigh in at the Bowl gymnasium under the supervision of a boxing commission deputy. Commissioner Harvey Boyle will be present tonight and will have complete supervision of the fistic show.

JOHNNY DATTO

Rio Opposes Sunday

Datto is a great puncher, while Carpentier is fast, clever, a good defensive boxer and carries a good punch in his right hand. Datto has fought more reputable opponents, due to his longer career in the ring, but in his best fight with Mike Dundee Carpentier showed that he was ripe for the better boys in his division.

Frankie Rio, Cleveland, will return to the Bowl with Frankie Sunday, Akron, as his opponent. Rio and Sunday fought a stirring six-round bout at the Old Armory last winter and the fans here have not forgotten Sunday's educated left.

Action Predicted

Jimmie Belmont, a well liked welterweight, will clash with the tough and aggressive Akronite, Johnny Hanlon, who permits punches to drop off his chin with the same fashion as raindrops fall from the back of a bird in flight.

The Rio-Sunday and Belmont-Hanlon bouts are scheduled for six rounds, and in the four-round numbers Young Harris and Jack McCarthy, both of Pittsburgh, will clash at 144 pounds, while Elmo the Mighty will fight Johnny Russell of Fayette City.

The first bout will start at nine o'clock sharp.

College Hockey Men Booked For Winter In Fifteen Games

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 20.—College hockey stars from Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Boston College and other universities, who will play under the standard of the University club, are booked for approximately fifteen games this winter, the schedule of which is not yet certain.

However, instead of playing and practicing at the Boston Arena, as had been their custom in past years, this year's aggregation will play the 1928-29 season at the Boston Madison Square Garden. Agreement to this effect was recently reached between Gilbert H. Gleason, chairman of the hockey committee of the University Club and Sheldon H. Fairbanks, chairman of the Garden.

Harvard and McGill are two of the opponents already selected for the University Club team, which is one of the strongest amateur teams in the country. With professional and Harvard University games already scheduled, New England hockey fans are assured of an active hockey season at the new Garden.

And, with Eddie Mack, well known promoter of the Argonne A. A., in charge of the boxing at the New North Station arena, indications are that much of the sporting activity so long monopolized by the Back Bay will find the scenes shifted to the North End when the great "Temple of Sport" is completed.

Pre-Season Camp For Westminster Football Squad

Opens September 3 And Continues Until Opening Of School

COACHES EXPECT FORTY CANDIDATES

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 20.—Announcement was made Saturday by Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald that the Westminster football camp will open Monday, September 3, at which time 40 candidates for the eleven will report to Coaches "Dyke" Beede and "Johnnie" Lawther.

The camp will be continued until the opening of college classes on September 19. Players will be on training table for this period and will have two practice sessions daily.

Of the group that will report, there will be 13 letter men from last year's team in addition to a number of substitutes from the squad. To date, about a dozen freshman candidates will have been selected to report.

The squad which Beede and Lawther will build the 1928 machine includes Captain Joseph Furno, tackle; Emmet Tweedie, end; Joseph Smith, guard; Russell Boone, center; James Lauder, back; James McQuiston, back; Charles Ayers, guard; John Hall, back; Norman Holzapfel, quarter; Joseph Dombrowski, tackle; Gerry Sweet, guard; William Crowell, end; Adrian Dible, back; Stephen Havrilla, full; William Armour, guard; Marsh Fisher, tackle; Paul Campbell, back; Emmanuel Kruger, center; Durwood Aker, back; and Herbert Miller, guard.

In just 26 days after the Camp opens the United Presbyterians open the season against Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh. Then follows eight more games with district opponents which will constitute the hardest season ever attempted by Westminster.

Athletic authorities are now busy arranging details for the camp and the training table, and in getting all equipment in shape for the season. The coaches will be assisted by Trainer Jack Hulme, student manager William Lewis, and a staff of student assistants.

English Girl As Channel Hope In Stiff Training

By J. C. OESTREICHER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Getting ready to swim the Channel is one of the hardest jobs in the world.

So says Miss Laddie Sharp, the 18-year-old Lewisham girl, who is regarded as one of England's strongest chances to carry off honors in the channel-swimming derby this year.

"I get out of bed at the dot of seven in the morning," Miss Sharp said in outlining her training schedule. "I walk until 8:30 and then breakfast. Then comes a four-hour swim at full speed against the tide.

"After lunch, I take two hours' rest, and then a massage. After dinner I take another walk, and then into bed at 9 o'clock sharp.

"Proper food is important. I am very fond of raw steak for dinner, and sometimes I also have a glass of stout, because stout is fattening and the fatter you are the more bouyant you become."

Channel-swimming apparently is one field of feminine endeavor where the raw-boned flapper has no place.

"One of the greatest thrills, in training," Miss Sharp continued, "is whales. I have met many of them while swimming by night off Folkstone, and some have been 16 feet long.

"Training of this sort is hard work, but it is healthy and fine for the constitution."

Miss Sharp is but one of many aspirants who are training for channel onslaughts this year. There are at least a dozen, men and women, who hope to share some of the fame enjoyed by Gertrude Ederle by making successful crossings.

Miss Sharp is being trained by Jabez Wolffe, who for several years has been identified with channel swimming. One of the hopefuls is Ihak Helmy, the giant Egyptian who has been trying to swim the channel for as long as any of the beach veterans can remember.

Walker Uninjured, Falls From Ring

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, today was none the worse for a tumble out of the ring while training for his fight here next Monday night with Armand Emanuel, Jewish light-heavyweight. While sparring with a partner Walker slipped and fell from the ring and hit the floor five feet below with a resounding thump. He resumed boxing a short time later, apparently uninjured.

Socking Sons Of Italy — By Feg Murray

Time was when Fistiana, sometimes called the manly art of boxing, was ruled in virtually all its departments by rugged young men whose forebears came from the Emerald Isle. Outstanding among the Irish-Americans who have been champions in their respective divisions were James J. Corbett, Jack Dempsey, Jack Britton and Terry McGovern. To these must be added Gene Tunney, who recently retired from the heavyweight championship, and Tommy Loughran, present light-heavyweight champ.

In recent years the Italian-Americans have come to the front, and we now have the spectacle of the crown in four divisions worn by fighters whose fathers came from the land of the olive and Chianti. The latest to be awarded the title is Bushy Graham, the leader of the bantamweights, who was named Angelo Geraci by his parents. Bushy knocked at the door for years and engaged in more than 80 fights before he was recognized as the best in his class.

Perhaps the most popular of the quartet is Tony Canzoneri, awarded the featherweight title after defeating Benny Bass last February. Inability to make the weight in the bantamweight class, where he was regaded as one of the leading contenders, forced Canzoneri into the higher division a few months before his fight with Bass.

The other two Italian-Americans recognized as champions are Joe Dundee (Samuel Lazzaro), who won the welterweight title from Pete Latzo in June, 1927, and Sammy Mandell, king of the lightweights. The last-named silenced critics who charged that he retained his title through arranging contests with 'set-ups" by defeating Jimmy McLarnin, the leading contender, this year.

Giants Leading National League; Trip Cardinals

New York Giants, First Time Since May 13, Pull Into First Place In Heydler Circuit

YANKEES-INDIANS SPLIT TWIN BILL

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—John McGraw's dream of winning his eleventh National league pennant this year took on a rosy hue today as the little Napoleon and his fighting Giants, in first place for the first time since May 13, pulled into Cincinnati for a three-game series with the Reds.

The invasion of the Rhineland holds no great terrors for the McGrawian maulers, for they have downed the Reds ten times in sixteen starts this season. Meanwhile the Cardinals, trailing the Giants by three percentage points, as a result of three successive setbacks at the hand of the New Yorkers, faced the cheerless prospect of batting against Dazzy Vance. Cheerless, because the Brooklyn strikeout king is just about as unbeatable as a straight flush right now.

Giants Going Good

Since July 24, when they were in fourth place, the Giants have won 19 of 25 games, including five straight victories over the Cardinals. The Cards began to slip since beating the Giants at the start of their last invasion of New York, and since then have lost nine out of twelve starts.

The Red Birds fought hard against the New Yorkers in St. Louis, losing each of the three games by the same score, 3 to 2. Larry Benton, McGraw's ace, hung up his twentieth victory in beating them yesterday. His opponent, wee Willie Sherdel, was invincible save for one fatal lapse when hits by Reese, Mann, Lindstrom and Terry gave the Giants all their runs.

The one bright spot from a St. Louis standpoint was the work of Ernest Orsatti, recruit outfielder recalled from Minneapolis. He hit his second homer in as many days since rejoining the Cards.

Forty thousand persons saw this game, while 65,000, a record baseball crowd for any city this season, watched the Yankees divide a double bill with Cleveland in New York. With one man on base in the tenth inning of the opener, Chick Autry, Cleveland catcher and former Yankee, hit a homer which gave the Indians a 3 to 2 verdict. Heimach, New York's new southpaw, allowed only five hits and the Yanks got the same number of Shaute, Dudlin and Bayne.

The Yanks battered Uhle and Miljus in the night cap and breezed home to a 10 to 2 win, Henry Johnson yielding only six hits. The reformation of New York's pitching staff was not particularly pleasing news for the Athletics, who were idle and remained five games behind the leaders.

The Chicago Cubs kept in the National league fight when Charley Root captured a 3 to 2 duel from Spitting Bill Doak of Brooklyn. Cincinnati nosed out Boston, 4 to 3, and Detroit outslugged Washington, 9 to 6.

Read This One And Then Laugh

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Enthused by his victory over Johnny Risko on a foul last week, Roberto Roberti today was on record with a claim to the heavyweight title vacated by Gene Tunney. The Italian's manager, August Morescalchi, apparently believing that Risko is the only contender to be eliminated, dispatched a letter to the National Boxing Association urging that body to recognize Roberti as the champion without further ado.

Meyer Wins In Altoona Race

Youthful Californian Repeats Performance At Indianapolis On Altoona Track

BOB McDONOGH PLACES SECOND

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 20.—Lou Meyer, youthful Californian who first won fame by winning the Indianapolis races Memorial Day, today wore a new crown after winning the 200-mile international speed sweepstakes at Altoona speedway before a holiday crowd of 65,000. Young Meyer, driving a Stutz special, maintained a pace of 117 miles an hour covering the distance in 1:42:45.

Bob McDonogh of San Francisco driving a Flying Cloud, who led Meyes during the early part of the classic was forced into second money and lost the most generous slice of the $27,000 money when a flat tire catapulted his car into the pit on the 101st lap. McDonogh lost nearly 2 1-2 miles in the spill, but roared ahead of the others to place second in 1.43:43.

Cliff Woodbury of Chicago, driving for Fred Comer, placed third in 1:44:55 with Billy Arnold, Philadelphia, fourth, Dave Evans, San Antonio, fifth and Ray Keech, holder of the world's speed record, sixth.

Eleven of the original 16 starters finished the race all escaping accidents with the exception of the spill which forced McDonogh into second place.

Leon Duray won the preliminary 5-mile sprint in 2:228 3-10 seconds while Ralph Hepburn took the 10 miles sprint in 4:42 3-10.

A threatened injunction to prevent officials from staging the classic on Sunday after Saturday's postponement failed to materialize.

British Walker Cup Team Very Confident Now

British Team At Chicago For International Play Is Representative

KNOW AMERICANS ARE GOOD PLAYERS

EDITORS—(This is the first of a series of three stories on the British Walker Cup team, which meets American golfers in international play at the Chicago golf course, Wheaton, Illinois, August 30 and 31. The second and third stories will appear Tuesday and Wednesday.)

By DR. WILLIAM TWEDDELL, Captain of the British Walker Cup Team and British Amateur Champion in 1927.
As Told to COPELAND C. BURG, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BOB-O-LINK GOLF COURSE, HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 20.—We members of the British Walker Cup team are looking to a hard fight from the Americans and we realize we have a very fine American team to play. We have a good all-around side and the British team is truly representative of the British Isles, as we have players from Scotland, Ireland and England.

We hope that the golf we play will be good enough to win and if it isn't good enough we will be the first to congratulate the American players on their victory.

Happy To Be Here

We players are very glad indeed to be in the United States. We are having a gorgeous time and everyone is treating us marvelously.

Speaking for all the players I may say we feel there is a great deal more to the Walker Cup matches than the mere playing of golf. These visits of American players to England and the British players to America bring a close understanding and lead to the establishment of an everlasting friendship between the United States and Great Britain, not only in sport but in everything.

We are pleased to find everywhere in America so much interest in golf. I hope the matches with America's stars are closely contested and that they produce some thrilling shots, such as the great American player, Bobby Jones, is noted for.

Tomorrow's story will deal with some of the golf problems the British visitors are meeting on American courses.

Football Men Will Gather On Tuesday

Coach Bridenbaugh To Get Glimpse Of 1928 Material Tuesday Evening

Faculty Manager Gardner Busy Arranging Details For Opening Of Training Camp

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh will get a peek at his 1928 football material on Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the New Castle Senior High School, when the candidates will gather for the purpose of getting lined-up for the training camp session.

One week from today the High school gridders will be hard at work at Muddy Creek Falls. The football camp in another week will find about 25 or 30 young hopefulls clashing with each other for recognition from the "big boss."

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner and his corps of student assistants have worked like Trojans to get the camp ready for the influx of gridders. Every detail has been carefully worked out, and the boys will find every possible conveniece at the camp. The squad to be trained at Camp Ne Ca Hi this year will not be as large as in former years, and it is believed that by cutting the number down, that more efficient work can be attained.

Meeting Is Open

The meeting tomorrow night is open to all candidates, veterans of last year, reserve material of 1927, and for all new comers, including the students who will enter Senior High from Ben Franklin and other Junior high schools of the city. Remember every boy who has aspirations toward obtaining a berth on the 1928 team will be welcomed at the meeting.

There is not many weeks left until the bid red and black clad team trots out on the greensward of Ben Franklin High stadium to do battle with the Bellevue team in the opening game. The lid lifter is scheduled for Saturday, September 22.

New Castle Senior High football team this fall has a very tough schedule and there is plenty in the way of good solid work to be accomplished before the grid engine is running on every cylinder. The training camp is no place for loafers and "sheiks." Coach Bridenbaugh has given the boys to understand that he expects them to produce.

There will be no fooling permitted and when the boys trot into the great open spaces next week they will do so with the knowledge that Mr. Bridenbaugh never says one thing and means another.

Gardner is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of the annual camp and is anxiously counting the hours until "his boys" as he calls them arrive in the confines of the beautiful scenery of Muddy Creek Falls.

Don't forget the meeting in Senior High tomorrow night, let the dates and other personal matters go for one night and hie up to the Senior High building to get properly ticketed for the training camp.

Four Games In Church League

Four games are on tap tonight in the New Castle Church league. The games start at 6:30 o'clock Daylight Savings time.

The Central Christians will meet the First Christians at Lehigh field. The Central Presbyterians will play the Mahoning M. E. at Scotland Lane. The Grace and Congregational team will meet the Croton M. E. team at Mahoningtown field. The Hakoah team will play the Epworth M. E. team at Colonial field.

The epitaph isn't the only lie. Frequently the stone seems to indicate importance when in reality it merely indicates ready cash.

Chuck Wiggins To Box Tony Marullo Here Next Week

Two of the greatest light-heavyweights in the world will box at Jolly Bowl one week from tonight when Chuck Wiggins and Tony Marullo clash. Wiggins is from Indianapolis and Marullo from New Orleans.

Marullo has fought Tommy Loughran, Jack Delaney, Mickey Walker, Johnny Risko, Armand Emanuel, Harry Greb, Paul Berelenback, Mike McTigue and others high in the fistic world.

All of the light-heavyweights and heavyweights excepting Marullo have ben dodging Wiggins who holds a draw with Johnny Risko and also fought him a no decision bout.

The attraction for a city the size of New Castle is an ace attraction like the Datto-Carpentier bout tonight.

William M. Nunn was the winner of the weekly tournament held at the golf course of the New Castle Field-club, turning in a low net score of, 78.

The three-quarter handicap prevailed and there were some excellent scores turned in, making the competition keen. H. A. Wilkison was the winner in the second division with a net score of 76 for the eighteen holes.

The players, gross scores, handicaps and net scores were as follows:

Class A	G.	H.	N.
W. M. Nunn	80	2	78
W. D. Wilkison	87	8	79
Dr. C. E. Trainor	88	9	79

Play Starts Today In Women's National Lawn Tennis Championships

HELEN WILLS IS BIG FAVORITE

By MALCOLM ROY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug 20. — With Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, eight times a holder of the women's national lawn tennis title, as the only possible obstacle in the path of another triumph for Miss Helen Wills, national, French and English champion, the forty-first annual tournament for the women's national lawn tennis championship of the United States will get under way on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club here this afternoon with the outcome virtually a foregone conclusion.

Nothing short of a phenomenal reversal of form by Miss Wills or miraculous playing by some one of her opponents stands in the way of a successful defense of her title by the California marvel.

Two Champions Listed

Besides the California girl and Mrs. Mallory there are two other former holders of the national title listed to play. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, also of California, who a quarter of a century ago won the national and English championships and held a position in the lawn tennis world of 1904 and 1905 quite as conspicuous as that occupied by Miss Wills today, is one of this pair of ex-champions.

The other is Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, who also dominated the courts in her day of glory.

These four, with Miss Helen Jacobs of Santa Barbara, Calif., Miss Edith Cross, of San Francisco, Mrs. Charlottle Hosmer Chapin, of San Francisco and Springfield, Mass., Miss Marjory Morrill of Dedham, Mass., and Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Virginia, are the seeded players in the championship. Miss Jacobs has for several years been standing on the threshold of the great, having been a member of the Wightman cup team both here and abroad and playing exceptionally fine tennis.

Mrs. Chapin Prominent

Mrs. Chapin has held a prominent position on the courts both in California and the East for the last eight or ten years.

Miss Morrill, the Boston girl, has shown fine promise this season and may go far in the tournament and the same may be said of Edith Cross, one of the half dozen youngsters California is sending into the tournament. This group includes Midge Gladman, who has already won fame for herself, Evelyn Parsons, a diminutive schoolgirl and Caroline Swartz, all of whom are likely to be heard from in championship play for several years to come.

Much interest, of course attaches to the entry of Mrs. Bundy, who has demonstrated in the last few weeks that she is not so far past her prime that she cannot still hold her own against more youthful opponents. This she showed in striking fashion in the Eastern championships last Saturday, when she defeated Mrs. Chapin for the title in a brilliant three-set match.

Very Few Set-Ups

Mrs. Bundy will be no set-up for the youngsters in the championship singles and may go well on towards the title before finally succumbing. Hers is probably one of the most remarkable come-backs on record, for she was winning championships before Helen Wills was born and at a time when the wizardry of the late William Larned and the famed Doherty brothers of England held the whole lawn tennis world in thraldom.

Sixty players in all will take the courts for the title play, which begins at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but the luck of the draw gives Miss Wills a bye so that she will not get into action until tomorrow. The starred matches for today include the following:

3 p. m. Miss Marjorie Gladman, Palo Alto, California vs. Miss Alice Francisc, East Orange, N. J.; Miss Marjory Morrill, Dedham, Mass., vs. Miss Dorothy Blodgett, Boston, Mass.

4 p. m. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Santa Monica, Calif., vs. Miss Charlotte Miller, New York; Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, New York vs. Miss Gene Burritt, Toronto.

5 p. m. Miss Helen Jacobs, Santa Barbara, California, vs. Miss Marie Fensterer, Englewood, N. J.; Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Boston, vs. Miss Mayme MacDonald, New York.

Defeats Tilden

Here is a picture of Fritz Mercur, Lehigh university star, who humbled both "Big Bill" Tilden and George M. Lott, Jr., in the eastern turf court championship singles. He will play John Doeg of Stanford in the final round.

New Slag Road Being Built

Four Miles Of New Short Cut Completed And Ready For Use

Approximately four of the nine miles of road between Deeringer's blacksmith shop and Moravia which are being slaged and ashed are completed according to statements made today.

Trucks which have been hauling night and day for the past month and a half have completed more than six miles of the slagging but only four miles of this have been ashed and completed.

The new road has a bed of six inches of slag upon which another six inches of ashes are placed. The road will have a smooth hard surface which will not be injured by rains or snow and will make a comparatively hard road leading through the county during the entire winter.

The new road will furnish a short cut between Moravia and Mt. Jackson or Bessemer and will be a decided saving of mileage in going from Pittsburgh to Youngstown or other Ohio points.

It is estimated that the completion of the road will be made before the cold weather sets in.

Each Rotarian has made it his duty to bring one or more boys to the diamond this morning. Two busses of the Pennsylvania & Ohio Electric company were provided for the boys' trip to the camp. Some were taken in the machines of the Rotary members.

One of the features at the camp this week in which Rotary members will officiate will be the dedicatory services at the Charles Walter McConnell cabin, the Rotary hut, on Wednesday evening, August 22, at 8 o'clock. Rotarians will speak at this time.

SCORE TIED WHEN KNELL MAKES BALK

Knell pulled the prize play of 1928 here when he made a balk with three on base and the score tied in the ninth and McCullough romped home with the winning run Saturday afternoon at Centennial field, New Castle winning from Akron 6 to 5 in an O. & P. tilt. Until Knell made the balk the game had been exciting.

Gibson and McCullough shared honors in the field with Hogan, Snyder, Leonard and McCullough carrying off batting honors. Leonard turned in a trio of hits.

Akron scored three runs in the second and New Castle got four in their half and made another in the fifth. The score was deadlocked 5 to 5 when Akron scored twice in the fifth.

Judge Henninger, in refusing a new trial to Miller, directed him to appear in court on Monday, September 3, for sentence.

Hassell-Cramer Given Warning

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 20. — Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer started their flight to Greenland against the advice of Danish Polar experts, it was revealed today by Helge Bangsted, who has just returned from Greenland, where he arranged for the landing and refueling of the Hassell airplane.

"I cabled Hassell that he had better wait until spring for the flight as landing and restarting in Greenland would be very difficult. I am astonished that he started at this time of year."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NOMAN E. BROWN.
Sports writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

While the Yankees continue to hold the inside track on the American league pennant it is well within the range of possibilities—at this stage of the game—for them to lose the bunting.

And musing over the possibility of that happening one is inclined to wonder if such an event would bring about a move that was seriously considered by baseball men generally when the Yankees were riding along far ahead of the field and putting a wet blanket on baseball generally by their emphatic manner of trampling on the other teams.

This suggested move was the "wrecking of the Yankee team as it stood to equalize the strength of the various teams and make the race closer.

Miller Huggins needs a good pitching staff badly right now. He is making frantic efforts to bolster it, if only temporarily until he has the 1928 pennant race disposed of.

Between now and next season he will have to acquire one or two young top-notch hurlers if he hopes to carry on at his year's pace.

Were the pennant to slip away from him this season because of the collapse of his pitching staff is it beyond the range of reason that he might take drastic measures to revamp that staff before next spring—even to the extent of trading one of his star regulars to acquire at least one ready-made hurler?

To a man up a tree this would appear to be almost a logical move—not an absurd move at least.

As infielders he has the veteran Joe Dugan who can still play fair ball and would be a drawing card on any other team for a time at least; Gene Robertson, Leo Durocher, now carrying his own in the infield; Mike Gazella a first-class utility man who has also been playing first-place ball as an emergency man; Mark Koenig and Tony Lazzeri. He has Lynn and coast league rookies coming next spring under the deal made for them a year ago. And the team has one or two other promising infielders out on option. Huggins could well afford to gamble on filling a gap made by the disposal of one of his infield regulars.

He has Cedric Durst a capable outfielder and Ben Paschal, slugger extraordinary in addition to Ruth, Bob Meusel and Earl Combs. Meusel is a vet and while his hitting has slipped he is still rated a star.

Huggins has three catchers any one of whom would be more than acceptable on most any big league club in Grabowski, Pat Collins and Bengough. Any one of these three will bring good material in a trade.

The point is that Huggins has a number of men on his team the sale of whom would create considerable interest but whose going would not shake deeply at the team's power. To this extent at least Huggins can go over night in trying to strengthen the section of his team that has hurt him to considerable extent to date and will not improve as it stands to date.

Whether or not Wilcey Moore is simply having an off year or shot his bolt last season is still to be determined. Grand old Herb Pennock is nearing the end of his days though still the war horse of the team. George Pipgras is the one man whose future on the team is assured. Henry Johnson bids fair to deliver but has not found himself as yet. Waite Hoyt is past the zenith of course.

The more one ponders the matter the more reasonable it seems that we can expect some rather drastic moves by Messrs Ruppert and Huggins over winter, win, lose or draw this year.

The Turk has been described as the most henpecked of all husbands. That is the reason, we suppose, for nicknaming him the "unspeakable Turk."—The Louisville Times.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Stocks of the American railroad companies forged to the front as the leaders of the forward movement in prices at the beginning of trading today. With the exception of Chrysler, which sold up about 3 points, the motor stocks were reactionary under profit-taking, though losses rarely exceeded 2 points. The balance of the market was firm after the announcement of the 6 per cent call loan rate, with Corn Products and Cash Register the outstanding bullish leaders.

St. Louis Southwestern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas led the movement in the non-dividend rails, the former crossing 100 for the first time and the latter pushing through 40. The St. Paul issues continued last week's brilliant move, the preferred selling about a point higher.

Chrysler Motor and Dodge preferred established new high price records in the second hour in active trading. Corn Products and Colorado Fuel and Iron featured the industrials, and Atlantic Refining the oils. The mercantile stocks were inactive as well as the moving picture group, with the exception of Consolidated Film preferred, which reached a new high for the year. Call money renewed at 6 per cent.
